Introducing the Mythological Crescent Harald Haarmann, Joan Marler, 2008 There is a broad cultural region with related traditions of mythical beliefs interconnected by long term contacts during prehistoric times This area called here the Mythological Crescent is a zone of cultural convergence that extends from the ancient Middle East via Anatolia to southeastern Europe opening into the wide cultural landscape of Eurasia The very old interconnections between Eurasia and Anatolia are explored in this study for the first time In a comparative view striking similarities can be reconstructed for the ancient belief systems and the imagery of both regions which suggest convergent cosmological conceptualizations of high age The beliefs and ritual practices of the indigenous peoples of Eurasia are rooted in the shamanism of the oldest cultural layers of the Palaeolithic Although socioeconomic development in Anatolia was markedly different from cultural evolution in Eurasia the hunters and gatherers in Anatolia who adopted sedentary lifeways did not entirely lose their ancient beliefs during the transition to plant cultivation in the eighth millennium BCE Archaic beliefs and imagery fused with new practices and innovations during the development of agrarian societies One diagnostic motif which was perpetuated from the Palaeolithic to the Neolithic and beyond is represented by the production of female figurines statuettes Their significance for communal life has been linked to spiritual concepts of the continuity of life the vegetation cycle and the protection of the natural habitat of all living things as recorded in myths and historical folk art of Uralic and other peoples The bear plays a significant role as a mythical animal in the imagery of Eurasia whereas this motif was lost in Anatolia during the transition from antiquity to the Middle Ages

Evolving Brains, Emerging Gods E. Fuller Torrey,2017-09-05 Religions and mythologies from around the world teach that God or gods created humans Atheist humanist and materialist critics meanwhile have attempted to turn theology on its head claiming that religion is a human invention In this book E Fuller Torrey draws on cutting edge neuroscience research to propose a startling answer to the ultimate question Evolving Brains Emerging Gods locates the origin of gods within the human brain arguing that religious belief is a by product of evolution Based on an idea originally proposed by Charles Darwin Torrey marshals evidence that the emergence of gods was an incidental consequence of several evolutionary factors Using data ranging from ancient skulls and artifacts to brain imaging primatology and child development studies this book traces how new cognitive abilities gave rise to new behaviors For instance autobiographical memory the ability to project ourselves backward and forward in time gave Homo sapiens a competitive advantage However it also led to comprehension of mortality spurring belief in an alternative to death Torrey details the neurobiological sequence that explains why the gods appeared when they did connecting archaeological findings including clothing art farming and urbanization to cognitive developments This book does not dismiss belief but rather presents religious belief as an inevitable outcome of brain evolution Providing clear and accessible explanations of evolutionary neuroscience Evolving Brains Emerging Gods will shed new light on the mechanics of our deepest mysteries
