The Making Of A Picture:

Shame and the Making of Art Deborah Cluff, 2017-12-01 Shame remains at the core of much psychological distress and can eventuate as physical symptoms yet experiential approaches to healing shame are sparse Links between shame and art making have been felt intuited and examined but have not been sufficiently documented by depth psychologists Shame and the Making of Art addresses this lacuna by surveying depth psychological conceptions of shame art and the role of creativity in healing contemporary and historical shame ideologies as well as recent psychobiological studies on shame Drawing on research conducted with participants in three different countries the book includes candid discussions of shame experiences These experiences are accompanied by Cluff's heuristic inquiry into shame with an interpretative phenomenological analysis that focuses on how participants negotiate the relationship between shame and the making of art Cluff's movement through archetypal dimensions especially Dionysian is developed and discussed throughout the book The results of the research are further explicated in terms of comparative studies wherein the psychological processes and impacts observed by other researchers and effects on self-conscious maladaptive emotions are described Shame and the Making of Art should be essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students engaged in the study of psychology and the arts It will be of particular interest to psychologists Jungian psychotherapists psychiatrists social workers creativity researchers and anyone interested in understanding the dynamics of this shame and self-expression Women Making Art Marsha Meskimmon, 2003 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company

Making Images Move Gregory Zinman, 2020-01-03 Making Images Move reveals a new history of cinema by uncovering its connections to other media and art forms In this richly illustrated volume Gregory Zinman explores how moving image artists who worked in experimental film pushed the medium toward abstraction through a number of unconventional filmmaking practices including painting and scratching directly on the film strip deteriorating film with water dirt and bleach and applying materials such as paper and glue This book provides a comprehensive history of this tradition of handmade cinema from the early twentieth century to the present opening up new conversations about the production meaning and significance of the moving image From painted film to kinetic art and from psychedelic light shows to video synthesis Gregory Zinman recovers the range of forms tools and intentions that make up cinema's shadow history deepening awareness of the intersection of art and media in the twentieth century and anticipating what is to come The Pictures of the Year.
