Women in Leadership Positions in the People's Republic of China Maria Adnane, 2020-06-02 Master s Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 7 Heilbronn University language English abstract Women are still significantly underrepresented in Top Management positions and leadership is still associated with the male gender as leadership theories traditionally focus on men This is especially evident in China which has one of the world s highest female labor participation but a female share of only eight percent on the corporate boards Although Chinese women s tertiary educational attainment is now equal to the tertiary education of Chinese men they still face many barriers on their way to the top The strong influence of Confucian values perceiving women as inferior to men remains noticeable until today and women find themselves exposed to a strongly patriarchal business environment As being traditionally the main care givers of their families they are deemed to be expensive potential mothers and thus gender preference can be observed second Classical leadership theories of the Western culture as well as of the Chinese culture are introduced to provide a common understanding of their approaches Further the situation of women in the past and of today is being compared as well as their leadership styles access to managerial leadership positions and the barriers they face Since educational attainment of both genders does not explain why women are rarely found on the upper managerial ranks other reasons that could be a barrier for women s career advancement are examined in this research

Women in Academic Leadership Susan J. Bracken, Jeanie K. Allen, Diane R. Dean, 2023-07-03 Colleges and universities benefit from diversity in their leadership roles and profess to value diversity of thought of experience of person Yet why do women remain under represented in top academic leadership positions and in key positions along the academic career ladder Why don t they advance at a rate proportional to that of their male peers How do internal and external environmental contexts still influence who enters academic leadership and who survives and thrives in those roles Women in Academic Leadership complements its companion volumes in the Women in Academe series provoking readers to think critically about the gendered nature of academic leadership across the spectrum of institutional types It argues that leadership the academy and the nexus of academic leadership remain gendered structures steeped in male oriented norms and mores Blending research and reflection it explores the barriers and dilemmas that these structures present and the professional strategies and the personal choices women make in order to successfully surmount them The authors pose questions about how women leaders negotiate between their public and private selves They consider how women develop a vital sense of self efficacy along with the essential skills and knowledge they need in order to lead effectively how they cultivate opportunity and how they gain legitimacy and maintain authenticity in a male gendered arena For those who seek to create an institutional environment conducive to equity and opportunity this book offers insight into the pervasive barriers facing women of all colors and evidence of the need for a more complex multi dimensional view of leadership For women in academe who seek to reach their professional potential and maintain authenticity it offers encouragement and a myriad of strategies for their growth and development
