MacDougall, 2013-07-19 Eckstorm was the daughter of a fur trader living in Maine who published six books and many articles on natural history woods culture and Indian language and lore A writer from Maine with a national readership Eckstorm drew on her unique relationship with both Maine woodsmen and Maine's Native Americans that grew out of the time she spent in the woods with her father She developed a complex system of work largely based on oral tradition recording and interpreting local knowledge about animal behavior and hunting practices boat handling ballad singing Native American languages crafts and storytelling Her work has formed the foundation for much scholarship in New England folklore and history and clearly illustrates the importance of indigenous and folk knowledge to scholarship Fannie Hardy Eckstorm and Her Quest for Local Knowledge 1865 1946 reveals an important story which speaks directly to contemporary issues as historians of science social science and humanities begin to re evaluate the nature content and role of indigenous and folk knowledge systems Eckstorm's life and work illustrate the constant tension between local lay knowledge and the more privileged scientific production of academics that increasingly dominated the field from the early twentieth century At the time Eckstorm was writing the growth in professionalism and eclipse of the amateur led to a reorganization of knowledge As increasing specialization defined the academy indigenous knowledge systems were dismissed as unscientific and born of ignorance Eckstorm recognized and lauded the innate value of traditional knowledge that could for example fell trees in the interior of Maine and ship them internationally as finished lumber Louis Sockalexis David L. Fleitz, 2002-10-14 Louis Sockalexis a Penobscot Indian from Maine was one of the greatest college baseball stars of the 1890s Following his days playing for Holy Cross and Notre Dame he went directly into the major leagues with Cleveland's National League team in 1897 becoming the first of his race to play in the majors and the first minority athlete to play in the National League This is a complete biography of Sockalexis known during his playing days as Chief of Sockem and Deerfoot of the Diamond For three months Sockalexis batted well over 300 hit home runs and made incredible throws from the outfield but he found it difficult to adjust to playing in the major leagues He often found himself the object of ridicule and hatred from sportswriters and fans in other cities Sockalexis began drinking heavily and was suspended by the Cleveland team for playing while intoxicated His alcoholism brought his career to an unfortunate and premature end in 1899 and he died in 1913 at the age of 42 Shortly after his death Cleveland s American League team was named the Indians and Chief Wahoo was adopted as its mascot something that has sparked controversy in recent years and brought attention to Sockalexis once again The Penobscot man Fannie H. Eckstorm,1970 The Penobscot Man Fannie Hardy Eckstorm,1924 The Archaeology of Tribal Societies William A. Parkinson,2002-03-01 Anthropological archaeologists have long attempted to develop models that will let them better understand the evolution of human social organization In our search to understand how chiefdoms and states evolve and how those societies differ from egalitarian bands we have neglected to develop models that will aid the understanding of the wide range of variability that exists between them This volume attempts to fill this gap by exploring social organization in tribal or autonomous village societies from several different ethnographic ethnohistoric and archaeological contexts from the Pre Pottery Neolithic Period in the Near East to the contemporary Jivaro of Amazonia

INTRODUCTORY The question is sometimes asked why a state like Maine so sparsely settled poor weak in all external aids can send forth such throngs of masterful men who east and west step to the front to lead direct and do We who were brought up among pine trees and granite know the secret of their success It comes not wholly by taking thought it is in the blood Here are stories of men the kind we have yet a plenty who die unknown and unnoticed and every tale is a true one not the chance report of strangers the gleanings of recent acquaintance the aftermath of hearsay the enlargements of a fading tradition but the tales of men who tended me in babyhood who crooned to me old slumber songs who brought me gifts from the woods who wrought me little keepsakes or amused my childish hours stories which having gathered them from this one and that one who saw the deed I have bound into a garland to lay upon their graves Such tales are numberless choice becomes invidious unless rigidly limited and therefore since the old West Branch Drive is no more I have chosen solely among its members and have strung these tales like beads of remembrance upon one thread of which we who love it never tire the River These are stories told with little art In the long run the books that lie closest to the facts have the advantage It is lovely to be beautiful but it is essential to be true The events are actual occurrences the names real names the places any one may see at any time Yet each story is not merely personal and solitary but illustrates typically some trait of the whole class Their virtues are not magnified their faults are not denied in black and white for good or evil they stand here as
