Teachers Religion In Public Schools:

The Function of the Public Schools in Dealing with Religion American Council on Education. Committee on Religion and Education, 1953 Law, Education, and the Place of Religion in Public Schools Charles J. Russo, 2023-05 This text presents a comparative cross cultural analysis of the legal status of religion in public education in eighteen different nations while offering recommendations for the future improvement of religious education in public schools Offering rich analytical insights from a range of renowned scholars with expertise in law education and religion this volume provides detailed consideration of legal complexities impacting the place of religion and religious education in public education The volume pays attention to issues of national and international relevance including the separation of the church and state public funding of religious education the accommodation of students devotional needs and compulsory religious education The volume thus highlights the increasingly complex interplay of religion law and education in diverse educational settings and cultures across developing and developed nations Providing a valuable contribution to the field of religious secondary education research this volume will be of interest to researchers academics and educators with an interest in religion and law international and comparative education and those involved with educational policy at all levels Those more broadly interested in moral and values education will also benefit from the discussions the book contains Christian Teachers in Public Schools Julia K. Stronks, Gloria Goris Stronks, 1999-08-01 A guide for Christians teaching in public schools to 1 bring their faith to bear on their work and 2 understand the legal issues governing religion and public schools Teaching about Religion in Public Schools , 2013 Anchored in reviews of the literature on teaching about religion in public schools media portrayals of education and media portrayals of religion this study poses the following question How is teaching about religion in public schools portrayed in the media The author identifies four camps through the literature the clarifiers who seek to communicate that teaching about religions is legal and desirable the returners who seek to return prayer and Bible reading to public schools the fideists who claim that Scripture is sacred and should only be taught by believers for the purpose of spreading faith and the secularists who believe that a focus on religion will inevitably lead to sectarianism Based on a sample of 251 news articles 73 opinion articles and 91 Internet blog posts published between January 1 1980 and June 1 2010 the author conducts a discourse analysis of six articles posts from the sample and interviews 12 writers of articles posts from the dataset The author identifies and analyzes the following topics a Bible based courses 43% b religion focused social studies standards 37% and c teaching about world religions 15% Applying a theoretical framework developed by Walter R Fisher s conception of the narrative paradigm and complemented by Walter J Ong s notion of the fictionalized audience interview analyses reveal three types of narratives writers invoke experience stories which detail events that occurred either to them personally or to someone they know imagined situations which concern writers ideas about what they believe could or should happen in various circumstances and narratives of the way things are which provide snapshots of how the writers think about society Major findings of this study include a what people believe teaching about religion should look like in schools is related to their narrative rationality b references to the culture war are evident in most media about this topic in that writers either rally the troops or attempt to convene a parley and c moving forward the challenge for advocates is to determine when and how religious studies content can and should be integrated into the education cycle
