The Charnwood Papers Fallacies In Community Education:

The Charnwood Papers Bob O'Hagan,1991 Parents And Teachers Carol Vincent,2013-10-08 This work examines the factors that shape and influence home school relations At its heart is an analysis of parent teacher relationships in an inner city borough drawn from case studies of five primary schools and a parents centre Interviews with parents are revealing windows into parents views on a range of issues including curriculum discipline and parents relationships with their children s teachers The author also considers teachers perspectives on these matters and explores the influence of social class ethnicity and gender on parent teacher interactions While presenting these issues within a consideration of broader themes such as citizenship community power and participation the book discusses the reasons why initiatives designed to improve home school relations appear to result in such limited change Routledge International

Companion to Education Miriam Ben-Peretz,Sally Brown,Bob Moon,2004-04-28 The Routledge International Companion to Education aims to address the key issues underpinning the rethinking and restructuring of education at the beginning of the new millennium

Researching and Transforming Adult Learning and Communities Rob Evans,Ewa Kurantowicz,Emilio Lucio-Villegas,2015-12-17 Can adult education and learning be understood without reference to community and people s daily lives The response to be found in the chapters of this volume say emphatically no they cannot Adult learning can be best understood if we look at the social life of people in communities and this book is an attempt to recover this view The chapters of this volume reflect ongoing research in the field of adult education and learning in and with communities At the same time the work of the authors presented here offers a very vital reflection of the work of the ESREA research network Between Local and Global Adult Learning and Communities The chapters showcase the broad range of professional practice the variety in both methodology and theoretical background as well as the impressive scope of field research experience the authors bring to bear in their papers The first section provides the broad view of research into adult learning and community development emphasising how social movements are at the heart of local and global change and that they are critically important sources of power The second section focuses in on the practice of educators mediators working in local and regional contexts in which the tensions of the wider policy and discourse environment impact on adult learners The third section privileges the view at the close level of research inside local communities in the field International researchers and practitioners particularly young researchers who are active in adult learning and in local global communities will be interested in this book The emphasis of the chapters is on participatory and emancipatory social research Empowerment of women in rural communities involvement of communities in social and environmental movements power sharing in community research projects and the exposure of hegemonic globalising forces at work in ethnic communities are among the themes developed in this volume

Modern Educational Myths Bob O'Hagan,2013-04-15 Focusing on some of the fallacies in the education system in the UK the contributors to this text dissect controversial topics including are higher pass rates the key to success is school really a community does good management create a good school and can A levels survive

Education and Community Garth Allen, Ian Martin, 1992 Making Sense of Schools and Community Divisions Ron Collier, 2010-03 This is an account of two journeys made by the author. The first is ethnographic and involves his encounters with teachers and families in an English ex mining town in the late 1980s. It is about the different cultural realities they experience and the significant problems that parents, pupils and teachers have in communicating with each other about their children's educational needs. The second involves an epistemological method for understanding the processes taking place during the author's first journey and works toward a practical and process oriented theory of social reality. This book will prove useful to those involved in relationship difficulties between schools and communities by helping to make sense of those relationships and identifying ways of working toward more common ground. Another theme is that we cannot meaningfully detach our experiences from how we make sense of the social world that surrounds us. Consequently appropriate elements from the author's personal life are woven into the narrative. Making Sense of Schools and Community Divisions attempts to involve readers in the evolution of ideas for the same reason. First time author Dr Ron Collier based this book on a manuscript he completed in 2001. He found himself referring frequently to the manuscript in his work as a research consultant for mental health services. Collier grew up in a seaside town in Devon and now lives in a small village in Nottinghamshire, England. Publisher's website: <http://www.strategicpublishinggroup.com> title:

Making Sense of Schools and Community Divisions Griff Foley, 2020-07-31 Adult education has never been more important or urgent than it is today. Few educators have had the impact on adult education of Griff Foley. Professor Peter McLaren, University of California Los Angeles. This timely and valuable book makes an important contribution to our understanding of key recent developments in adult education and their significance. Reflecting the increasingly global nature of scholarship in the field, well respected international contributors analyse issues facing practitioners today and consider how these can be most positively embraced to further the international cause of adult learning and social justice. Janet Hannah, University of Nottingham. Learning is central to all aspects of human life and failure to learn brings dire consequences. As our world becomes more integrated and complex, adult learning has become more important. Dimensions of Adult Learning offers a broad overview of adult learning in the workplace and community. Written by a team of international experts, it introduces the core skills and knowledge which underpin effective practice. It examines adult education policy and research and highlights the social nature of adult learning. It also examines adult learning in different contexts: on line learning, problem based learning, organisational and vocational learning. Dimensions of Adult Learning is an essential reference for professionals and students. Griff Foley is Research Associate in Adult Education at the University of Technology Sydney. He is author of Learning in Social Action and Strategic Learning. Ripples Oded Manor, 2000. The answer depends to some extent on the work setting you have in mind. In Ripples leading groupworkers introduce you to eleven applications Assuming little prior knowledge each tells you of the clients users needs the methods used and the ideas that guide workers in one setting Further reading is suggested Initiated by the interdisciplinary journal Groupwork Ripples invites workers to learn from one another in the belief that the ripples of shared learning can only strengthen groupwork practice The settings include personal growth palliative care occupational therapy criminal justice social work mental health health promotion schools community based learning for adults community development and social action
