RAF Bomber Command: 'Strike Hard, Strike Sure' 1936-1945 Ron Mackay,2022-03-31 Historically rich in detail with previously unpublished photographs from private archives Researched and written by an aviation and military historian renowned author Essential for military historians modellers flight sim enthusiasts War Thunder IL 2 Sturmovik Great Battles and DCS and those interested in the complexities of aircraft design and production during the Second World War They sowed the wind and now they are going to reap the whirlwind Arthur Bomber Harris The concept of an aerial campaign on a nation's industrial and military might was advocated by Britain before the start of the First World War however a stringent post war economy ensured that the creation of Bomber Command in 1936 witnessed a daunting disparity between the aim of striking at an adversary's ability to sustain itself and the means to do so From 1939 to 1942 Bomber Command was very weak in terms of human and material losses The navigational means with which to accurately guide bombers to targets was almost completely lacking while the enemy defensive network inflicted serious casualties Consequently the punishment handed out was minimal The resurgence of Bomber Command's fortunes coincided with the appointment of Sir Arthur Harris The advent of four engine designs such as the Avro Lancaster and Handley Page Halifax ensured that a greatly increased bomb tonnage could be delivered Also electronic aids such as Gee Oboe and H2S simplified the task in finding targets Therefore by 1944 1945 the RAF's bombers pulverised Hitler's Third Reich Although flak and night fighters took a heavy toll on the bombers the RAF's nocturnal offensive in conjunction with the USAAF's daylight assaults crippled Germany's ability to fight back RAF Bomber Command Ron Mackay,2021-10-21 This book covers Bomber Command from creation in 1936 to 1945 In parallel with Fighter Command's initial defensive fallibility the means to hammer the Axis industrial base into oblivion was totally lacking and had to be painfully built up to the point where the Force decisively added its weight to bring about an ultimate Allied Victory

Strike Hard, Strike Sure Ralph Barker,1963 Mosquito Mayhem Martin W. Bowman,2010-11-20 This is the book that puts the flesh on the bones of its reputation as one of the best aircraft of the Second World War Pennant Magazine The flak started about four or five minutes before the target and immediately it was apparent that it was intense and extremely accurate Oboe entailed the pilot flying dead straight and level for ten minutes on the attack run Suddenly a tremendous flash lit up the sky about 50 yards ahead of our nose and exactly at our altitude Within a tenth of a second we were through the cloud of dirty yellowish brown smoke and into the blackness beyond I shall never forget the spontaneous reaction of both my pilot and myself We turned our heads slowly and looked long and deep into one another's eyes no word was spoken no words were needed The Mosquito was probably World War II's most versatile combat aircraft This book contains hundreds of firsthand accounts from many of the two man crews who flew in them pilots and navigators It portrays the dramatic experiences of flying in its many roles as pathfinder night fighter reconnaissance aircraft precision bombing and low level ground attack aircraft It describes many of the RAF's most audacious raids on prime but difficult targets where carpet bombing by heavy bombers was likely to be ineffective and cause unnecessary casualties to civilians It is a remarkable record of the aircraft and the men that flew them Strike Hard, Strike Sure Ralph Barker,1975 Bomber Command: Reflections of War, Volume 5 Martin W. Bowman,2013-07-10 This is the fifth release in a series that provides a comprehensive insight into all aspects of RAF Bomber Command in World War Two It begins in late September 1944 when the Allied Bomber Offensive was at its height and takes us through to the end of the conflict The crews personal narrative puts you at the centre of each intense isolated and harrowing episode of aerial combat as the pilots of Bomber Command attempted to stave off fears of tragic injury and death from fighters flak and incessant operational pressure during raids on German cities waterways ports and oil installations This continued until the Luftwaffe and the Nachtjagd effectively ceased to exist their fuel supplies exhausted their losses in airmen reaching an unsustainable level and their aircraft and airfields decimated as a result of 24 hour Allied bombing Often it was the most exciting feats of bravery determination and daring that were marked by the most catastrophic losses Approximately 62 per cent of the 125 000 men who served as aircrew in Bomber Command during the war became casualties Of these 52 per cent were sustained while flying operations and a further ten per cent while on non operational flights in Britain It should never be forgotten that RAF Bomber Command played a hugely significant role in securing victory for the Allies carrying out mass raids by day and night that eventually culminated in them beating the life out of Germany Yet its crews were denied the campaign medal that they so richly deserved until very recently Here Martin Bowman attempts to provide an adequate tribute to the men of Bomber Command using first hand accounts to capture an authentic commentary of the times at hand in a release that is sure to capture the imaginations of all aviation enthusiasts A - Airports British Library,2012-05-21 No detailed description available for A Airports Last of the Lancasters Martin W. Bowman,2014-11-30 The Lancasters looked like enormous deadly black birds going off into the night somehow they looked different when they came back The planes carried from this field 117 000 pounds of high explosives and the crews flew all night to drop the load as ordered Now the trains would not run between France and Italy for a while not on those bombed tracks anyhow Here are the men who did it with mussed hair and weary faces dirty sweaters under their flying suits sleep bright eyes making humble comradely little jokes and eating their saved up chocolate bars Martha Gellhorn This riveting and highly intriguing collection of pilot and civilian reminiscences works to commemorate the spirit of the almighty Lancaster bomber Each chapter is dedicated to a unique individual or group of individuals who took part in its history in some capacity Be they pilot civilian or journalist each played their own part and their accounts offer a host of fascinating insights Episodes featured include the battle for Munich and the Nuremberg and Berlin Raids Stories of PoWs downed in their Lancasters and captured in enemy territory also feature communicating a real sense of peril experienced behind enemy lines Two sections of fascinating black and white photographs supplement and complete this trawl through the history of the Lancaster bomber and the men and women who witnessed its glory days
