Lovett Cameron,1889 The Japan Daily Mail ,1877 Indian Tales Rudyard Kipling,1890 Or ever the knightly years were gone With the old world to the grave I was a king in Babylon And you were a Christian slave W E Henley His name was Charlie Mears he was the only son of his mother who was a widow and he lived in the north of London coming into the City every day to work in a bank He was twenty years old and suffered from aspirations I met him in a public billiard saloon where the marker called him by his given name and he called the marker Bullseyes Charlie explained a little nervously that he had only come to the place to look on and since looking on at games of skill is not a cheap amusement for the young I suggested that Charlie should go back to his mother That was our first step toward better acquaintance He would call on me sometimes in the evenings instead of running about London with his fellow clerks and before long speaking of himself as a young man must he told me of his aspirations which were all literary He desired to make himself an undying name chiefly through verse though he was not above sending stories of love and death to the drop a penny in the slot journals The Sea and Nineteenth-Century Anglophone

Literary Culture Steve Mentz,Martha Elena Rojas,2016-11-18 During the nineteenth century British and American naval supremacy spanned the globe The importance of transoceanic shipping and trade to the European based empire and her rapidly expanding former colony ensured that the ocean became increasingly important to popular literary culture in both nations This collection of ten essays by expert scholars in transatlantic British and American literatures interrogates the diverse meanings the ocean assumed for writers readers and thinkers on both sides of the Atlantic during this period of global exploration and colonial consolidation The book s introduction offers three critical lenses through which to read nineteenth century Anglophone maritime literature wet globalization which returns the ocean to our discourses of the global salt aesthetics which considers how the sea influences artistic culture and aesthetic theory and blue ecocriticism which poses an oceanic challenge to the narrowly terrestrial nature of green ecological criticism The essays employ all three of these lenses to demonstrate the importance of the ocean for the changing shapes of nineteenth century Anglophone culture and literature Examining texts from Moby Dick to the coral flower books of Victorian Australia and from Wordsworth s sea poetry to the Arctic journals of Charles Francis Hall this book shows how important and how varied in meaning the ocean was to nineteenth century Anglophone readers Scholars of nineteenth century globalization the history of aesthetics and the ecological importance of the ocean will find important scholarship in this volume
