The Day Man Lost:

The Day Man Lost Hiroshima, 6 August 1945 Bungei Shunjū Senshi Kenkyūkai, 1981 Discusses the events which led to the development of the atomic bomb and details the day of Hiroshima's destruction     Publications of the Children's Bureau United States. Children's Bureau, 1931

Social Statistics in Child Welfare and Related Fields Alice Channing, Ellen

Nathalie Matthews, Helen Russell Wright, United States. Children's Bureau, 1932     When Men Lost Faith in Reason H. P.

Willmott, 2002-08-30 This examination of the history of the 20th century and the place of war in its unfolding presents a radical unorthodox interpretation of both. With provision for seeing 1945 as the proper starting point for the 20th century and 1968 as the year that marked the end of the Age of Reason this provocative study portrays the First World War as the first war of the 20th century and the Second World War as the last war of the 19th. It also provides a counterview of the Second World War as merely one part of a series of conflicts that lasted between 1931 and 1975 and the Cold War as the time when real hatreds were suspended. Moving through various insurgency campaigns Willmott subjects the Gulf campaign of 1991 to skeptical analysis that is certain to be contentious. Challenging the view that the 20th century will be viewed by future historians as ranging from approximately 1914 to 1992 Willmott offers this volume as a counter to modern historiography which he contends is obsessed with micro analysis and has lost vital context and perspective. Arguing that war is not the preserve of the intellect and that it is neither intrinsically rational nor scientific Willmott depicts war as a manmade phenomenon complete with all the elements of human failure misjudgment and incompetence. He concludes with a consideration of modern doctrine and predictions for the future of war

Weeramantry, 2021-10-11 Several years ago when this work first appeared it had become apparent that scientists who play such a key role in the nuclear enterprise needed to be alerted to the many questions of conscience and legality that were inextricably interlinked with their work. These questions lay at the heart of the nuclear weapons problem for whatever the political and military leaders might ordain the manufacture of such weapons was a plain impossibility without the active assistance of the scientific profession. Yet no substantive work on this topic had until then been attempted. Such a work appeared at that time to be an urgent and important need. If the problem was then acute and serious it is even more so now. The power of nuclear science has grown and with it has grown the power of the individual scientist to initiate new developments. The changes in the world order that have occurred in the intervening years enable individual scientists to hold themselves out as available for employment. Those who seek their expertise may include not only governments but other entities as well. The power of global destruction that these scientists command renders it imperative that they be alerted on a continuing basis to the problems of conscience that arise Hence the need for a re issue of this work for which there had been many requests from concerned scientists professional groups socially concerned organisations and also from lawyers The book is re issued in its original form but updated by the inclusion of more recent work as contained in extracts from three judicial opinions upon the matter Hearings United States.
