The California Gold Rush Mark A. Eifler, 2016-07-22 In January of 1848 James Marshall discovered gold at Sutter's Mill in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada For a year afterward news of this discovery spread outward from California and started a mass migration to the gold fields Thousands of people from the East Coast aspiring to start new lives in California financed their journey West on the assumption that they would be able to find wealth Some were successful many were not but they all permanently changed the face of the American West In this text Mark Eifler examines the experiences of the miners demonstrates how the gold rush affected the United States and traces the development of California and the American West in the second half of the nineteenth century This migration dramatically shifted transportation systems in the US led to a more powerful federal role in the West and brought about mining regulation that lasted well into the twentieth century Primary sources from the era and web materials help readers comprehend what it was like for these nineteenth century Americans who gambled everything on the pursuit of gold What Was the Gold Rush?

Joan Holub, Who HQ, 2013-02-07 Hear the stories about the gold seeking forty niners in this addition to the 1 New York Times bestselling series In 1848 gold was discovered in California attracting over 300 000 people from all over the world some who struck it rich and many more who didn't With black and white illustrations and sixteen pages of photos a nugget from history is brought to life GOLD RUSH. DAVID. HILL, 2016 Gold Rush , 19?? The California Gold Rush and the Klondike Gold Rush Charles River Charles River Editors, 2015-03-18 Includes pictures Includes accounts of the gold rushes written by participants Includes bibliographies for further reading Includes a table of contents One of the most important and memorable events of the United States westward push across the frontier came with the discovery of gold in the lands that became California in January 1848 Located thousands of miles away from the country's power centers on the east coast at the time the announcement came a month before the Mexican American War had ended and among the very few Americans that were near the region at the time many of them were Army soldiers who were participating in the war and garrisoned there San Francisco was still best known for being a Spanish military and missionary outpost during the colonial era and only a few hundred called it home Mexico's independence and its possession of those lands had come only a generation earlier Everything changed almost literally overnight While the Mexican American War technically concluded with a treaty in February 1848 the announcement brought an influx of an estimated 90 000 Forty Niners to the region in 1849 hailing from other parts of America and even as far away as Asia All told an estimated 300 000 people would come to California over the next few years as men dangerously trekked thousands of miles in hopes of making a fortune and in a span of months San Francisco's population exploded making it one of the first mining boomtowns to truly spring up in the West This was a pattern that would repeat itself across the West anytime a mineral discovery was made from the Southwest and Tombstone to the Dakotas and Deadwood Of course that was made possible by the collective memory of the original California gold rush Despite the mythology and the romantic portrayals that helped make the California Gold Rush most of the individuals who came to make a fortune struck out instead The gold rush was a boon to business interests which ensured important infrastructure developments like the railroad and the construction of westward paths but ultimately it also meant that big business reaped most of the profits associated with mining the gold While the Forty Niners are often remembered for panning gold out of mountain streams it required advanced mining technology for most to make a fortune As historian H W Brands said of the impact the gold rush had on Americans at the time The old American Dream was the dream of the Puritans of Benjamin Franklin's Poor Richard of men and women content to accumulate their modest fortunes a little at a time year by year by year The new dream was the dream of instant wealth won in a twinkling by audacity and good luck it became a prominent part of the American psyche only after Sutter's Mill While the gold rush may not have made every Forty Niner rich the events still continue to influence the country's collective mentality When gold was discovered in the Yukon and Alaska almost 50 years after the rush in California it drew tens of thousands of prospectors despite the unforgiving climate Mineral resources had gone a long way in the United States acquiring Alaska a generation earlier but the lack of transportation kept all but the most dedicated from venturing into the Yukon and Alaska until the announcement of the gold rush For a few years the attention turned to the Northwest and thanks to vivid descriptions by writers like Jack London the nation became intrigued with the idea of miners toughing out the winter conditions to find hidden gold Of course despite the mythology and the romantic portrayals that helped make the Klondike Gold Rush most of the individuals who came to make a fortune struck out instead The Mineral Industry ,1898 20 Fun Facts About the Gold Rush Joan Stoltman,2018-07-15 Did you know that part of San Francisco was built on top of ships from all over the world that were abandoned during the Gold Rush Even the most reluctant readers will love discovering history through these strange awesome and unbelievable tidbits about the hundreds of thousands of people who left their lives behind and trekked out to California to strike it rich Incredible early photographs and vivid illustrations bring each factoid into sharp focus while captions add extra information to each page
