The Irony of Power Dorothy Jean Weaver, 2017-06-21 This volume engages the Gospel of Matthew in full awareness of its inherently political character Weaver situates Matthew's version of the good news of the kingdom squarely within the real world of first century Palestine and its occupying power the Roman Empire The essays here focus prominently and collectively on the issues of power and violence that not only pervade the historically occupied Jewish community of first century Palestine but also are clearly visible throughout Matthew's narrative account A lower level reading of the Matthean text offers a bleak portrait of the overwhelming power and violence exerted by the Roman occupying authorities and their upper echelon Jewish collaborators against the wider Jewish community of first century Palestine But an upper level God's eye reading of Matthew's narrative consistently reveals the fundamental irony at the heart of the New Testament as a whole of the Jesus story broadly conceived and of Matthew's narrative account in specific. This irony overturns all humanly recognized definitions of power and demonstrates the astonishing politics of God which defeats evident power through apparent powerlessness and overcomes violence through nonviolent initiatives.

Teenage Allen Maruyama internalized the hostility directed at Japanese Americans subsequent to the Pearl Harbor attack. He says he learned to hate himself and felt subhuman but Presbyterians in his home state of Colorado befriended him. He proved himself as a student athlete and US Army Buck Sergeant. He graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary MA Christian education and MDiv. His MTS is from Dubuque Seminary. Only when he earned a PhD in theology from the Aquinas Institute of Philosophy and Theology did he feel emancipated, no longer suffering from shame while living and working as a Japanese American in white majority culture. Allen's Nisei second generation experiences and his issho kenmei personality all in full throttle nonstop propelled him into centers of change and controversy in fields as diverse as social justice theology and cultural and church history. Dr. Allen Maruyama is the first Asian American to stand for the position of moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church USA.
