Social Learning and Innovation in Contemporary Hunter-Gatherers Hideaki Terashima, Barry S. Hewlett, 2016-10-22 This is the first book to examine social learning and innovation in hunter gatherers from around the world More is known about social learning in chimpanzees and nonhuman primates than is known about social learning in hunter gatherers a way of life that characterized most of human history The book describes diverse patterns of learning and teaching behaviors in contemporary hunter gatherers from the perspectives of cultural anthropology ecological anthropology biological anthropology and developmental psychology The book addresses several theoretical issues including the learning hypothesis which suggests that the fate of Homo sapiens and Neanderthals in the last glacial period might have been due to the differences in learning ability It has been unequivocally claimed that social learning is intrinsically important for human beings however the characteristics of human learning remain under a dense fog despite innumerable studies with children from urban industrial cultures Controversy continues on problems such as do hunter gatherers teach If so what types of teaching occur who does it how often under what contexts and so on The book explores the most basic and intrinsic aspects of social learning as well as the foundation of innovative activities in everyday activities of contemporary hunter gatherer people across the earth The book examines how hunter gatherer core values such as gender and age egalitarianism and extensive sharing of food and childcare are transmitted and acquired by children Chapters are grouped into five sections 1 theoretical perspectives of learning in hunter gatherers 2 modes and processes of social learning in hunter gatherers 3 innovation and cumulative culture 4 play and other cultural contexts of social learning and innovation 5 biological contexts of learning and innovation Ideas and concepts based on the data gathered through an intensive fieldwork by the authors will give much insight into the mechanisms and meanings of learning and education in modern humans

65,000 Years: A Short History of Australian Art Marcia Langton, Judith Ryan, 2024-10-15 65 000 Years A Short History of Australian Art stares into the dark heart of Australia's brutal colonial history and offers new insights into the first art of this country Long before Britain's invasion of Australia in 1788 First Peoples cultural and design traditions flourished for thousands of generations Their art shaped the continent as we know it today and the societies that thrived here but these continuing artistic practices and new art forms were disregarded by the settlers and not considered to be fine art until the late 1980s In this publication twenty five writers urge us to reconsider the art history that is unique to the Australian continent and to acknowledge its rise to prominence in modern times Featuring new writing by leading thinkers across generations and disciplines it celebrates Indigenous Australian art across media time and language groups Today Indigenous art and artists are at the forefront of contemporary art practice In very real and tangible ways this publication reveals the artistic brilliance of Australia s First Peoples and stands as a testament to their resilience This book is published in association with a major exhibition at the University of Melbourne s revitalised Potter Museum of Art opening in 2025 Also titled 65 000 Years A Short History of Australian Art the exhibition curated by Professor Marcia Langton AO Ms Judith Ryan AM and Ms Shanyssa McConville features over 400 artworks that celebrate the longevity and brilliance of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander art despite a difficult history of colonialism and scientific racism
