The Publishers Weekly,2004    Broadcasting & Cable Yearbook,2007    Bound to Appear Huey

Copeland,2013-10-28 At the close of the twentieth century black artists began to figure prominently in the mainstream American art world for the first time. Thanks to the social advances of the civil rights movement and the rise of multiculturalism African American artists in the late 1980s and early 90s enjoyed unprecedented access to established institutions of publicity and display. Yet in this moment of ostensible freedom black cultural practitioners found themselves turning to the history of slavery. Bound to Appear focuses on four of these artists: Renée Green, Glenn Ligon, Lorna Simpson, and Fred Wilson, who have dominated and shaped the field of American art over the past two decades through large-scale installations that radically departed from prior conventions for representing the enslaved. Huey Copeland shows that their projects draw on strategies associated with minimalism, conceptualism, and institutional critique to position the slave as a vexed figure both subject and object, property and person. They also engage the visual logic of race in modernity and the challenges negotiated by black subjects in the present. As such, Copeland argues, their work reframes strategies of representation and rethinks how blackness might be imagined and felt long after the end of the peculiar institution. The first book to examine in depth these artists' engagements with slavery, Bound to Appear will leave an indelible mark on modern and contemporary art.

The Publishers' Circular and General Record of British and Foreign Literature, 1881    Critical Environmental Politics Carl Death, 2013-12-04

The aim of this book is to review central concepts in the study of environmental politics and to open up new questions, problems and research agendas in the field. The volume does so by drawing on a wide range of approaches from critical theory to poststructuralism and spanning disciplines including international relations, geography, sociology, history, philosophy, anthropology and political science. The 28 chapters cover a range of global and local studies, illustrations and cases. These range from the Cochabamba conference in Bolivia to climate camps in the UK, UN summits in Rio de Janeiro and Johannesburg, to climate migrants from Pacific islands, forests in Indonesia to Dutch energy governance reform, indigenous communities in Namibia to oil extraction in the Niger Delta, survivalist militias in the USA to Maasai tribesmen in Kenya. Rather than following a regional or issue based e.g. water, forests, pollution etc. structure, the volume is organised in terms of key concepts in the field, including those which have been central to the social sciences for a long time such as citizenship.

commodification consumption feminism justice movements science security the state summits and technology those which have been at the heart of environmental politics for many years including biodiversity climate change conservation eco centrism limits localism resources sacrifice and sustainability and many which have been introduced to these literatures and debates more recently biopolitics governance governmentality hybridity posthumanism risk and vulnerability Features and benefits of the book Explains the most important concepts and theories in environmental politics Reviews the core ideas behind crucial debates in environmental politics Highlights the key thinkers both classic and contemporary for studying environmental politics Provides original perspectives on the critical potential of the concepts for future research agendas as well as for the practice of environmental politics Each chapter is written by leading international authors in their field This exciting new volume will be essential textbook reading for all students of environmental politics as well as provocatively presenting the field in a different light for more established researchers
