The Basic Writers:

The Simple 6TM for Secondary Writers Kay Davidson,2008 Learning to Write as a Hostile Act for Latino Students Raul E. Ybarra,2004 Cultural differences play a part in communication breakdowns between students and teachers and only a complete understanding of the model that English instructors use when teaching writing gives us an insight into the reasons why This book observes and analyzes the communication patterns of Latino students in an English course at the college level closely observing the interaction between Latino students and the teacher as well as between Latino students and other student groups in the class Learning to Write as a Hostile Act for Latino Students concludes that cultural differences and the resulting miscommunications significantly contribute to the negative impressions Latino students have about the writing process and English courses Understanding these differences is crucial to improving the teaching of writing to Latino and other minority students

On Location Candace Spigelman,Laurie Grobman,2005-02-01 Classroom based writing tutoring is a distinct form of writing support a hybrid instructional method that engages multiple voices and texts within the college classroom Tutors work on location in the thick of writing instruction and writing activity On Location is the first volume to discuss this emerging practice in a methodical way The essays in this collection integrate theory and practice to highlight the alliances and connections on location tutoring offers while suggesting strategies for resolving its conflicts Contributors examine classroom based tutoring programs located in composition courses as well as in writing intensive courses across the disciplines
