Research on Development Institute of Development Studies (Brighton, England), 1984 Privatisation in Developing Countries Paul Cook, Colin H. Kirkpatrick, 2000 In recent decades privatisation has been a key policy instrument in the move to more market based economic systems in all parts of the developing world Privatisation however has not necessarily been accompanied by an increase in market competition In recent years many public utilities have been privatised as monopolies and in addition regulatory systems have been developed to restrict their market power and protect the interests of consumers These authoritative volumes bring together a collection of important papers that have shed new theoretical and empirical insights into privatisation and regulation and have provided new policy perspectives in relation to developing countries Privatisation in Developing Countries will appeal to policymakers and researchers at the forefront of economic policy debates in developing countries Industrialization in Developing and Peripheral Regions F. E. Ian Hamilton, 2017-09-05 The ten years before this book was originally published in 1986 saw major restructuring in the economies of the developed world This was often closely related to industrial development in newly industrializing and third world countries This book examines the performance of these developing countries and includes studies of peripheral regions less developed regions within more advanced economies The overall findings are that whilst some areas and countries have success stories to tell such as Korea many so called newly industrializing countries and regions have had serious problems
