But Their Faces Were All Looking Up Eric M. Vanden Eykel, 2016-12-01 This study of the Protevangelium of James explores the interrelationship of authors readers texts and meaning Its central aim is to better understand how the process of repetition gave rise to the narratives of the early Christian movement and how that process continued to fuel the creativity and imagination of future generations Divided into three parts Vanden Eykel addresses first specific episodes in the life of the Virgin consisting of Mary s childhood in the Jerusalem temple PJ 7 9 her spinning thread for the temple veil PJ 10 12 and Jesus birth in a cave outside Bethlehem PJ 17 20 The three episodes present a uniform picture of how the reader s discernment of intertexts can generate new layers of meaning and that these layers may reveal new aspects of the author s meaning some of which the author may not have anticipated

A Rhetoric of Doing Stephen Paul Witte, Neil Nakadate, Roger Dennis Cherry, 1992 Concerned with both the nature and the practice of discourse the eighteen essays collected here treat rhetoric as a dynamic enterprise of inquiry exploration and application and in doing so reflect James L Kinneavy s firm belief in the vital relationship between theory and practice his commitment to a spirit of accommodation and assimilation that promotes the development of ever more powerful theories and ever more useful practices A thorough introduction provides the reader with clear summaries of the essays by leading edge theorists researchers and teachers of writing and rhetoric A field context for the ideas presented in this book is provided through the division of the various chapters into four major sections that focus on classical rhetoric and rhetorical theory in historical contexts on dimensions of discourse theory aspects of discourse communities and the sorts of knowledge people access and use in producing written texts on writing in school related contexts and on several dimensions of nonacademic writing A fifth section contains a bibliographic survey and an appreciation of James Kinneavy s work The exceptional range of these essays makes A Rhetoric of Doing an ecumenical examination of the current state of mind in rhetoric and written communication a survey and description of what discourse and those in the field of discourse are in fact doing

The importance of being a reader: A revision of Oscar Wilde's works Christina Pascual Aransáez, 2014-11 This book explores Wilde s works from the hypothesis that they call upon the active participation of the reader in the production of meaning It has a twofold objective first it shows that Wilde s emphasis on the creative role of the audience in his critical writings makes him conceive the reader as a co creator in the construction of meaning Second it analyses the strategies which Wilde employs to impel the reader to collaborate in the creation of meaning of his literary works and casts light upon the social criticism derived from these The examination of Wilde s writings reveals how he gradually combined more sophisticated techniques that encouraged the reader s dynamic role with the progressive exploitation of self advertising strategies for professional purposes These allowed the commercial Oscar to make his works successful among the Victorian public without betraying the literary Wilde s aesthetic principles The present study re evaluates Wilde as a critic and as a writer It demonstrates that while Wilde the myth was ahead of his time in many ways Wilde the ARTIST anticipated in his aesthetic theory various themes which occupy contemporary literary theoreticians Thus it may contribute to give him the status he rightly deserves in the history of literature
