The Internal Environment Of Dwellings:

The Internal Environment of Dwellings Rudolph Maximilian Eugen Diamant, 1971 Private Dwelling Peter King, 2004

Housing is something that is deeply personal to us. It offers us privacy and security and allows us to be intimate with those we are close to. This book considers the nature of privacy but also how we choose to share our dwelling. The book discusses the manner in which we talk about our housing, how it manifests and assuages our anxieties and desires, and how it helps us come to terms with loss. Private Dwelling offers a deeply original take on housing. The book proceeds through a series of speculations using philosophical analysis and critique, personal anecdote, film criticism, social and cultural theory, and policy analysis to unpick the subjective nature of housing as a personal place where we can be sure of ourselves. Houses and Domestic Space in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hospitaller Malta George A. Said-Zammit, 2020-12-29

Houses and Domestic Space in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hospitaller Malta is a study concerned with a wide spectrum of early modern dwellings in Malta, ranging from palazzi and affluent residences to peasant dwellings, troglodyte houses and hovels. The multifaceted approach adopted in this book allows houses and domestic networks to be studied not only in terms of architecture and construction materials but also as places of human habitation where house dwellers act, react, and interact in different contexts and circumstances. Dwellings are places that permit different social and economic activities whilst providing shelter and security to the household members. Through the available sources, the houses of Hospitaller Malta are analysed in terms of their spatial properties and how they generate privacy, interaction, and communication, identity, accessibility, security, visibility, movement, and encounters, and equally important, how domestic space relates to gender, roles, status, and class. This work therefore seeks to reach a deep and nuanced understanding of domestic space and how it relates to the island's history and the development of their society during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Residential Satisfaction and Housing Policy Evolution Clinton Aigbavboa, Wellington Thwala, 2018-07-04

This book explores residential satisfaction and housing policy trends in developing nations by using subsidised low income housing examples in South Africa, Ghana, and Nigeria as case studies. While there has been much documentation on the formation of residential satisfaction and the evolution of housing policy in developed nations, relatively little has been written about these topics in developing nations. This book provides readers with two major practical insights. The first is focused on the theoretical underpinning of residential satisfaction and the formation of residential satisfaction in subsidised low income housing through the development of a conceptual framework while the second is focused on housing policy evolution and its trends in South Africa In this section of the book comparative overviews of public housing in two West African countries are provided with an emphasis on the philosophical basis for its development in these countries The central aim of the book is to provide readers with ideas on residential satisfaction formation and housing policy trends in South Africa Housing and Planning References, 1979 Internal Spaces of the Dwelling Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, 1984 Brick and Block Masonry Claudio Modena, F. da Porto, M.R.
