Bibliographic Index, 2007 Mind's World Alexander M. Schlutz, 2009-06 As the mental faculty that mediates between self and world mind and body the senses and the intellect imagination is indispensable for modern models of subjectivity From Ren Descartes's Meditations to the aesthetic and philosophical systems of the Romantic period to think about the subject necessarily means to address the problem of imagination In close readings of Descartes Kant Fichte Hardenberg Novalis and Coleridge and with a sustained return to the origins of the discourse about imagination in Greek antiquity Alexander Schlutz demonstrates that neither the unity of the subject itself nor the unity of the philosophical systems that are based on it can be conceptualized without recourse to imagination Yet philosophers like Descartes and Kant must deny imagination any such foundational role because of its dangerous connection to the body the senses and the unruly passions which threatens the desired autonomy of the rational subject The modern subject is simultaneously dependent upon and constructed in opposition to imagination and the resulting ambivalence about the faculty is one of the fundamental conditions of modern models of subjectivity Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature Modern Humanities Research Association, 2007 Includes both books and articles Missing the Breast Simon Richter, 2006 His engaging study draws the Gray,2008 In Money Matters Economics and the German Cultural Imagination 1770 1850 Richard Gray investigates the discourses of aesthetics and philosophy alongside economic thought arguing that their domains are not mutually exclusive The transition from an agrarian or proto industrial economy to a capitalist industrial economy which was paralleled by a shift from the exchange of specie to the use of paper currencies occurred simultaneously with an efflorescence of German language literature and philosophy Based on close readings of canonical literary and philosophical texts Gray explores how this confluence led to a rich cross fertilization between economic and literary thought in Germany during this period Money Matters documents the extent to which economics influenced literature and philosophy as well as the surprising degree to which literature and philosophy participated in the creation of modern economic paradigms The cultural artifacts of the period demonstrate the existence of an economic unconsciousness persistent notions of value and exchange that inflect the aesthetic and thematic dimensions of literary and philosophical texts This book offers a thought provoking and original analysis of literature and ideas in the critical transition period from Kant and Goethe through the German Romantics to Marx Richard T Gray is Byron W and Alice L Lockwood Professor in the Humanities at the University of Washington He is the author of About Face German Physiognomic Thought from Lavater to Auschwitz Speaking Havoc Ramu Nagappan,2007-12-19 Febris Erotica Valeria Sobol,2009 Annotation Valeria Sobol probes beyond the perception of love and death as a constant theme of eighteenth and nineteenth century Russian literature examining what underlies the stereotype about the destructive power of romantic love and why Russian writers so willingly employ this clicheacute Using this defamiliarized approach Sobol investigates the medical and cultural traditions that give shape to the convention and considers the philosophical implications of this familiar motif InFebris Erotica Sobol argues that Russian writers were deeply preoccupied with the nature of the relationship between mind and body and were persistent in their use of lovesickness not simply as a traditional theme but as a way to address pressing philosophical ethical and ideological concerns through a recognizable literary trope Finally Sobol offers a short history of the topos of lovesickness in Western literature and medicine and examines its appropriation in early modern Russia Valeria Sobol is assistant professor of Slavic languages and literatures at the University of Illinois Indian National Bibliography B.
