responsibilities USSOCOM's mission priorities are to deter, disrupt, and defeat terrorist threats, develop and support our people and families, and sustain and modernize the force. Defeating an adaptive enemy requires the command to position our limited numbers of high demand SOF at the right places at the right times for the right missions. We are dedicated to pursuing two essential and intertwined approaches: direct and indirect, in order to disrupt violent extremist networks while positively affecting the environment that spawns the extremists. USSOCOM will continue to ensure the highest state of SOF readiness and make certain that the SOF Warrior remains the centerpiece of 21st century Special Operations. The Congress mandated the creation of USSOCOM more than two decades ago and over this time our SOF Warriors have compiled an admirable record of success and achievement. Today's environment demands the skills of SOF more than ever. Our core tasks and adaptive personnel are uniquely suited to engage in Irregular Warfare and to counter our enemies. Today's SOF Warriors remain on point, armed with the exceptional support of the U.S. government and American people, facing all present and future challenges.

The Future of Air Force Special Operations Command Within the Joint Special Operations Community
Enrique A Cruz, 2025-05-22
This study examines challenges facing Air Force Special Operations Command (AFSOC). The current struggle against global terror has placed many of its assets in high demand and persistently on the move. Additionally, many of the requirements to support both conventional and special operations forces SOF place AFSOC in a difficult position; therefore, AFSOC has to grapple with conflicting requirements from its two bosses: US Special Operations Command (USSOCOM) and the Air Force. However, in order for AFSOC to remain relevant in current and future conflicts, it must focus on its primary user: the joint special operations community. Nearly three decades after the debacle at Desert One, the joint special operations community finds itself at the front of action across the full spectrum of operations. This has led to both USSOCOM and AFSOC's dramatic increases in not only their utilization but also their missions and roles. As USSOCOM prepares for the future through capabilities-based planning, AFSOC must also evaluate its mission and vision to provide the joint SOF community and combatant commanders the finest unconventional and specialized air power. By understanding USSOCOM's future goals and vision, AFSOC will be able to determine what it must plan for now and the future. 2015 Special Operations Forces Reference Manual, Fourth Edition - SOF Attributes, Precision Strike, USSOCOM Structure, Africa, Europe, Korea, Pacific, Command and Control, Ranger Missions, SOAR Department of Defense, U. S. Army, Joint Special Operations University, United States Special Operations Command (USSOCOM), U. S. Government, 2017-04-17 This fourth edition of the Special Operations Forces Reference Manual was redesigned to support the Joint Special Operations University's academic mission. It provides general information on U.S. Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force Special Operations Forces (SOF). More specifically, this document is designed to accomplish three broad purposes: 1. Provide a single primary source of reference material on all SOF components; 2. Provide an overview of special operations and SOF to facilitate a broader understanding of SOF capabilities to academic institutions and personnel who may not routinely use this data; 3. Provide standard SOF reference data to SOF faculty members at professional military education institutions for use in their instruction. The target audience for this manual spans from special operations staff officers and enlisted personnel at United States Special Operations Command (USSOCOM) to its component and subordinate commands, the theater special operations commands, conventional force unified commands, and their staffs that may employ SOF in their areas of responsibility, to partner nation staffs and both civilian and military educational institutions. This reference manual is doctrinally based, drawing information and data from joint USSOCOM and service publications.
