The American Scene:

The American Scene Henry James, 1907 Excerpt from The American Scene The following pages duly explain themselves I judge as to the Author's point of view and his relation to his subject but I prefix this word on the chance of any suspected or perceived failure of such references My visit to America had been the first possible to me for nearly a quarter of a century and I had before my last previous one brief and distant to memory spent other years in continuous absence so that I was to return with much of the freshness of eye outward and inward which with the further contribution of a state of desire is commonly held a precious agent of perception I felt no doubt I confess of my great advantage on that score since if I had had time to become almost as fresh as an inquiring stranger I had not on the other hand had enough to cease to be or at least to feel as acute as an initiated native I made no scruple of my conviction that I should understand and should care better and more than the most earnest of visitors and yet that I should vibrate with more curiosity on the extent of ground that is on which I might aspire to intimate intelligence at all than the pilgrim with the longest list of questions the sharpest appetite for explanations and the largest exposure to mistakes About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The American Scene Stuart Hutchinson,1991-10-02 The American Scene considers major texts of nineteenth century American literature The Leatherstocking Tales Poe s fiction The Scarlet Letter Moby Dick Leaves of Grass Dickinson s poetry Huckleberry Finn James s The American Scene It sees these works as attempts to articulate relationships between the self and the New World The indeterminacy of the relationships is expressed in the formal instability of the works themselves In these respects nineteenth century American literature is shown to offer a striking contrast to comparable English literature
