The Apocalypse in Germany Klaus Vondung, 2000 Originally published in German in 1988 The Apocalypse in Germany is now available for the first time in English A fitting subject for the dawn of the new millennium the apocalypse has intrigued humanity for the last two thousand years serving as both a fascinating vision of redemption and a profound threat A cross disciplinary study The Apocalypse in Germany analyzes fundamental aspects of the apocalypse as a religious political and aesthetic phenomenon Author Klaus Vondung draws from religious philosophical and political texts as well as works of art and literature Using classic Jewish and Christian apocalyptic texts as symbolic and historical paradigms Vondung determines the structural characteristics and the typical images of the apocalyptic worldview He clarifies the relationship between apocalyptic visions and utopian speculations and explores the question of whether modern apocalypses can be viewed as secularizations of the Judeo Christian models Examining sources from the eighteenth century to the present Vondung considers the origins of German nationalism World War I National Socialism and the apocalyptic tendencies in Marxism as well as German literature from the fin de siècle to postmodernism His analysis of the existential dimension of the apocalypse explores the circumstances under which particular individuals become apocalyptic visionaries and explains why the apocalyptic tradition is so prevalent in Germany The Apocalypse in Germany offers an interdisciplinary perspective that will appeal to a broad audience This book will also be of value to readers with an interest in German studies as it clarifies the riddles of Germany's turbulent history and examines the profile of German culture particularly in the past century

A History of the Apocalypse Catalin Negru, 2018-07-26 Every generation of people think that their problems are the most important ever As history flows without interruption and doomsday scenarios fail the following generations focus on their own contemporary events ignoring or underestimating the past In this way people always see signs in their times and the end of the world is constantly a fresh subject No Matter What Catherine Keller, 2024-12-03 A collection of essays that outline the recent work on ecology political theology religion and philosophy by one of the leading theologians of our age As we face relentless ecological destruction spiraling around a planet of unconstrained capitalism and democratic failure what matters most How do we get our bearings and direct our priorities in such a terrestrial scenario Species race sex politics and economics will increasingly come tangled in the catastrophic trajectory of climate change With a sense of urgency and of possibility Catherine Keller s No Matter What reflects multiple trajectories of planetary crisis They converge from a point of view formed of the political ecologies of a transdisciplinary theological pluralism In its work an ancient symbolism of apocalypse deconstructs end of the world narratives Christian and secular even as any notion of an all controlling and good God collapses under the force of internal contradiction In the place of a once for all incarnation the materiality of unbounded intercarination of fragile yet animating relations of mattering earth bodies comes into focus The essays of No Matter What share the preoccupation with matter characteristic of the so called new materialism They also root in an older ecotheological tradition one that has long struggled against the undead legacy of an earth betraying theology that with the aid of its white Christian right wing invests the denigration of matter its spirit of no matter in limitless commodification The fragile alternative Keller outlines here embraces no matter what the mattering of the life of the Earth and of all its spirited bodies These essays struggling against Christian and secular betrayals of the spirited matter of Earth work to materialize the still possible planetary healing

The Plan of the Apocalypse James Walker Hood,1900 Lectures on the Apocalypse William Milligan,1892 Communicating in the Anthropocene C. Vail Fletcher,Alexa M. Dare,2021-02-04

The purpose of Communicating in the Anthropocene Intimate Relations is to tell a different story about the world Humans especially those raised in Western traditions have long told stories about themselves as individual protagonists who act with varying degrees of free will against a background of mute supporting characters and inert landscapes Humans can be either saviors or destroyers but our actions are explained and judged again and again as emanating from the individual And yet as the coronavirus pandemic has made clear humans are unavoidably interconnected not only with other humans but with nonhuman and more than human others with whom we share space and time Why do so many of us humans avoid deny or resist a view of the world where our lives are made possible maybe even made richer through connection In this volume we suggest a view of communication as intimacy We use this concept as a provocation for thinking about how we humans are in an always already state of being in relation with other humans nonhumans and the land
