The World as a Global Agora Soumia Boutkhil, Larbi Touaf, 2009-03-26 In the current postmodern reality where society is no longer viewed as a totality but as a collection of individual interests public space both as a physical and symbolic space has no determined contours and the public sphere is likely to take new forms Yet as a crucial principle of democracy public space will continue to feed discussions as long as models of participatory democracy represent the guarantor of good governance and the preservation of the public good Ranging from architecture sociology to literary criticism and women and gender studies the essays that compose this collection have as a common denominator the idea of public space as a vital aspect of public life in modern as well as in developing and traditional societies Placing themselves beyond the relentless theoretical debates around the concept of public space the authors agree that no matter what forms it takes public space remains a fundamental aspect of even those societies that until recently were viewed as hermetically sealed What emerges from the different perspectives included in this book is a general consensus that the symbolic value of the physical public space is grounded in the collective socio political consciousness as the basis for a general sense of civic action Exile and Nomadism in French and Hispanic Women's Writing Kate Averis, 2017-07-05 Women in exile disrupt assumptions about exile belonging home and identity For many women exiles home represents less a place of belonging and more a point of departure and exile becomes a creative site of becoming rather than an unsettling state of errancy Exile may be a propitious circumstance for women to renegotiate identities far from the strictures of home appropriating a new freedom in mobility

Through a feminist politics of place displacement and subjectivity this comparative study analyses the novels of key contemporary Francophone and Latin American writers Nancy Huston Linda Le Malika Mokeddem Cristina Peri Rossi Laura Restrepo and Cristina Siscar to identify a new nomadic subjectivity in the lives and works of transnational women today
