The Aphrodite Pursuit:

Poetry as Performance Gregory Nagy, 1996-01-26 To understand the emergence of Homeric poetry as an actual written text it is essential to trace the history of Homeric performance from the very beginnings of literacy to the critical era of textual canonisations in the Hellenistic and Roman periods Professor Nagy applies the comparative evidence of oral poetic traditions including those that survived in literate societies such as the Proven al troubadour tradition It appears that a song cannot be fixed as a final written text so long as the oral poetic tradition in which it was created stays alive So also with Homeric poetry it is argued that no single definitive text could evolve until the oral traditions in which the epic was grounded became obsolete In the time of Aristarchus the gradual movement from relatively fluid to more rigid stages of Homeric transmission reached a near final point of textualisation Modern Myths: Ancient Stories with a Contemporary Twist

philosophy and poetry this is the story of ancient women in all their aspects Vivante explores women s lives in four ancient civilizations of the Mediterranean Egypt Mesopotamia Greece and Rome While the experiences of women in ancient cultures were certainly very different from those of most women today a tendency to focus too much on negative or restrictive images has until now provided readers with a rather incomplete picture Looking at this important era from a female oriented perspective Vivante widens the perceptual lens and makes it possible to highlight the fundamental empowered aspects of women s activities in order to present them in balance with the various limits imposed on their societal participation Beginning with powerful images of goddesses and women s roles in the religious sphere Vivante details the foundation for women s activities in all other social realms While these four Mediterranean civilizations were distinctive they also influenced each other through various forms of contact trade colonization and war Both the similarities and the differences permit richer comparisons and promote a deeper understanding of the lives of women in each An Autumn Cruise in the Aegean, Or, Notes of a Voyage in a Sailing-yacht Thomas Fitzpatrick,1886 Manipulation of Memory Diana Yi-Man Ng,2007
