The Architecture of Arthur Erickson Arthur Erickson, 1988 Architecture of Arthur Erickson, 1965 The architecture of Arthur Erickson Arthur Erickson (Architekt), 1988 Arthur Erickson David Stouck, 2012-11-09

Arthur Erickson Canada's pre eminent philosopher architect was renowned internationally for his innovative approach to landscape his genius for spatial composition and his epic vision of architecture for people Among his most celebrated large scale works are three that helped to define Vancouver's urban landscape Simon Fraser University on Burnaby Mountain the Robson Square complex at the heart of the city and the exquisite Museum of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia Travel was key to Erickson's creative process floating high above the clouds on extended airline flights he made preliminary drawings on vellum with his fine point black felt tip pen designing influential works not only for other parts of Canada including Toronto's widely admired Roy Thomson Hall but for sites in the U S Britain and the Middle and Far East Erickson worked chiefly in concrete which he called the marble of our times and wherever they appear his buildings move the spirit with their poetic freshness and their mission to inspire But he was also a controversial figure more than once attracting the ire of his fellow architects and his professional achievements were tarnished by the excesses of a complicated personal life that resulted in a series of tawdry bankruptcies In a fall from grace that recalls a Greek tragedy Canada's great architect a handsome elegant man who lived like a millionaire and counted among his close friends Pierre Trudeau and Elizabeth Taylor eventually became homeless and penniless This first full biography of Erickson who died in 2009 at the age of eighty four traces the architect's life from its modest origins to his emergence on the world stage Author David Stouck acclaimed for his earlier biographies of Ethel Wilson and Sinclair Ross demonstrates here once again why his work has been praised as imaginative incisive and compelling Grounded in interviews with Erickson and his family friends and clients as well as the resources of extensive public archives TITLE is both an intimate portrait of the man and a stirring account of how Erickson made his buildings work Beautifully written and superbly researched it is also a provocative look at the phenomenon of cultural heroes and the nature of what we call genius

Eppich House II Greg Bellerby,2019-03-15 Eppich House 2 tells the story through gorgeous images and Arthur Erickson s own words of how a unique collaboration with dream clients resulted in his most striking residence One glimpse of the cascading steel beams mirrored in the reflecting pond and it s clear that the Hugo and Brigitte Eppich house is a singular achievement a daring experiment that embodies Erickson s West Coast modernist ideas about site material and form Erickson s first steel residence explores both the structural and aesthetic possibilities of the material with curved beams dyed cladding and milled furnishings designed by Francisco Kripacz all features that would have been near impossible on a regular commission But after seeing the first Eppich House built for Hugo s twin brother Helmut Hugo entrusted Erickson with creating and furnishing the entire house inside and out another first for Erickson and made available the Eppich brothers steel fabricating plants which built virtually every component of the home Architecture expert Greg Bellerby weaves into his essay extensive interviews with Erickson Eppich and architect Nick Milkovich as well as contributions from Cornelia Oberlander the home s landscape designer to tell the fascinating story of an uncommon vision realized in steel and glass

Smith House II Michael Prokopow, 2018 Over the course of his distinguished career architect Arthur Erickson 1924 2009 designed numerous houses each an exercise in transforming the needs of his clients into tangible form in the context of site and place Artists Gordon Smith 1919 and Marion Smith 1918 2009 of Vancouver were the only Erickson clients to commission him to design two homes The first 1955 was a straightforward exercise in post World War II modernism that represented the transplantation of prevailing North American design thinking to the mountainous rain forests of coastal Vancouver The second house 1966 Smith House II as it came to be known likewise situated in a forest but with the added benefit of ocean and island vistas was simultaneously a deft reworking of the stylistic and spatial culture of the first house and a remarkable path breaking study in cultural transposition interpretation and adaptation Emphasizing its disavowal of conventional demarcations of space and the movement within and through it it translated the material and aesthetic sensibilities of 17th century Japanese domestic architecture to the circumstances of mid 20th century North America and the northerly Pacific coast Francisco Kripacz Arthur Erickson, 2016-05 Arthur Erickson was one of the 20th century's premier architects but little has been written about the man who designed the interiors of Erickson's award winning buildings whom everyone in the business simply called Francisco A decade before his death Erickson wrote this manuscript to pay tribute to Kripacz and to tell the world of the importance of Francisco's creations With stunning images from some of greatest photographers of the day such as Yousuf Karsh this book looks at Erickson's key projects and the crucial contributions made by Kripacz to their feel and glamour. It includes Erickson's extended commentary on some of his most famous architectural projects from the 1970s through the 1990s including Roy Thomson Hall, the Eppich Houses, Napp Laboratories and the Canadian Embassy in Washington D.C., all of which had stunning interior designs and furniture by Kripacz. As this book goes to press, the Erickson and Kripacz designed furniture line, the Erickson Design Collection, is being brought into manufacture with many items becoming available for the first time. Francisco Kripacz Interior Design is a beautiful legacy to the working partnership of a charismatic and passionate artistic duo, a last testament from a remarkable architect to the man who shared in his greatest achievements.
