Howell,2023-02-21 Self Awareness and The Elusive Subject explores the puzzling fact that we are certain of the existence of a subject of experience despite its being objectively and subjectively elusive It is objectively elusive in that like phenomenal states it cannot be found from the third person perspective It is subjectively elusive because it also cannot be found in introspection On the one hand then the author agrees with the Buddhists and philosophers like Hume and Sartre that the self cannot be found in experience He sides with Descartes on the other hand arguing the subject of experience exists and that we have certainty of the cogito Along the way the book considers the claim that phenomenal states have subjective character or mineness and argues instead that they are phenomenally anonymous Howell concludes with a deflationary account of pre reflective self consciousness and provides an account of basic self awareness according to which we are most fundamentally aware of ourselves indirectly as the subject of our conscious states      Feline Cultures Éric Baratay,2024-07-01 Using testimonies written between the middle of the eighteenth century and the beginning of the twenty first nourished by ethology and the human and social sciences Feline Cultures extends the unique track of animal studies that ric Baratay pursues from book to book As with his Animal Biographies Toward a History of Individuals Baratay breaks the model of human exceptionalism to create innovative accounts of these animals lives in a way that challenges the reader s thinking about animals Baratay is not interested in seeing how humans think about or treat these animals Instead he chooses to observe the animal s perspective to document how individual cats have carried out their lives He writes from the point of view of these animals to understand what they felt and experienced and how they reacted Whether they be street cats farm cats pet cats companion cats or catdogs cats show a great plasticity of behavior This book establishes that cats have their own cultures and adaptations and therefore their own history Through tight portraits the dynamic construction of what we can call cultures is revealed Here we are far from the eternal portrait of the cat independent unpredictable and mysterious that has become commonplace For each of the domestic cats whose existence can be reconstructed from his sources Baratay pays attention to their perceptions of the world their sensations and their emotions their sensitivity and character their bodily expressiveness and their interactions with the environment other animals and humans Ethology becomes under the alert pen of ric Baratay an ethnology      Revenge of the Liar JC Beall,2007-12-13 The Liar paradox raises foundational questions about logic language and truth and semantic notions in general A simple Liar sentence like This sentence is false appears to be both true and false if it is either true or false For if the sentence is true then what it says is the case but what it says is that it is false hence it must be false On the other hand if the statement is false then it is true since it says only that it is false How then should we classify Liar sentences Are they true or false A natural suggestion would be that Liars are neither true nor false that is they fall into a category beyond truth and falsity This solution might resolve the initial problem but it beckons the Liar s revenge A sentence that says of itself only that it is false or beyond truth and falsity will in effect bring back the initial problem The Liar s revenge is a witness to the hydra like nature of Liars in dealing with one Liar you often bring about another JC Beall presents fourteen new essays and an extensive introduction which examine the nature of the Liar paradox and its resistance to any attempt to solve it Written by some of the world s leading experts in the field the papers in this volume will be an important resource for those working in truth studies philosophical logic and philosophy of language as well as those with an interest in formal semantics and metaphysics
