their wings as if ashamed of having spoken at all This was quite too much for the white rooster He stood first on one yellow foot and then on the other He turned his head from side to side and said Well we are a lively set Any one would think to look in here that we were surrounded by a band of hungry foxes Just then a daring little bantam rooster hopped down from his perch He strutted over to the big rooster and said We are all lively     The Canadian Magazine of Politics, Science, Art and Literature ,1900     For the Children's Hour, Vol. 3 Carolyn Sherwin Bailey,2018-01-17 Excerpt from For the Children's Hour Vol 3 Book Three The Roman lad and his mother stood in the courtyard of their home From the living room of the house where Marcus and his little sister Annia of thirteen lived there came the busy hum of the maids spinning Wheels The white wool from the sheep that pastured on the green hills of Rome was to be made into soft cloth in this care ful household Yet Marcus was a boy of riches and of honor a magistrate of the city While still in his teens and a Relative of the great Emperor Hadrian of Rome About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
