The Politics Of Reflexivity Narrative And The Constitutive Poetics Of Culture:

The Politics of Reflexivity Robert Siegle, The Politics of Reflexivity Robert Siegle, 1986 Fiction in the Quantum Universe Susan Strehle, 2000-11-09 In this outstanding book Susan Strehle argues that a new fiction has developed from the influence of modern physics. She calls this new fiction actualism and within that framework she offers a critical analysis of major novels by Thomas Pynchon, Robert Coover, William Gaddis, John Barth, Margaret Atwood, and Donald Barthelme. According to Strehle, the actualists balance attention to questions of art with an engaged meditation on the external actual world. While these actualist novels diverge markedly from realistic practice, Strehle claims that they do so in order to reflect more acutely what we now understand as real. Reality is no longer realistic in the new physical or quantum universe; reality is discontinuous, energetic, relative, statistical, subjectively seen, and uncertainly known. All terms taken from new physics. Actualist fiction is characterized by incompletions, indeterminacy, and open endings, unsatisfying to the readerly wish for fulfilled promises and completed patterns. Gravity's Rainbow, for example, ends not with a period but with a dash. Strehle argues that such innovations in narrative reflect on twentieth century history, politics, science, and discourse.

Fictions of Identity in Medieval France Donald Maddox, 2000-11-23 In this study of vernacular French narrative from the twelfth century through the later Middle Ages, first published in 2000, Donald Maddox considers the construction of identity in a wide range of fictions. He focuses on crucial encounters widespread in medieval literature in which characters are informed about fundamental aspects of their own circumstances and selfhood. These always arresting and highly significant moments of specular encounter are examined in numerous Old and Middle French romances, hagiographic texts, epics, and brief narratives. Maddox discloses the key role of identity in an original reading of the Lais of Marie de France as a unified collection, as well as in Arthurian literature, fictions of the courtly tryst, genealogies, and medieval family romance. The study offers many new perspectives on the poetic and cultural implications of identity as an imaginary construct during the long formative period of French literature. Beyond the Great Story Robert F. Berkhofer, 1995 What legitimate form can history take when faced by the severe challenges issued in recent years by literary, rhetorical, multiculturalist, and feminist theories? That is the question considered in this pathbreaking book. Robert Berkhofer addresses the essential practical concern of contemporary historians. Victorian Metafiction Tabitha Sparks, 2022-11-17 Critics agree in the abstract that metafiction refers to any novel that draws attention to its own fictional construction, but metafiction has been largely associated with the postmodern era. In this innovative new book, Tabitha Sparks identifies a sustained pattern of metafiction in the Victorian novel that illuminates the art and intentions of its female practitioners. From the mid nineteenth century through the fin de siècle, novels by Victorian women such as Charlotte Brontë, Rhoda Broughton, Charlotte Riddell, Eliza Lynn Linton, and several New Women authors share a common but underexamined trope: the fictional characterization of the woman novelist or autobiographer. Victorian Metafiction reveals how these novels systemically dispute the assumptions that women wrote.

primarily about their emotions or were restricted to trivial sentimental plots Countering an established tradition that has read novels by women writers as heavily autobiographical and confessional Sparks identifies the literary technique of metafiction in numerous novels by women writers and argues that women used metafictional self consciousness to draw the reader's attention to the book and not the novelist By dislodging the narrative from these cultural prescriptions Victorian Metafiction effectively argues how these women novelists presented the business and art of writing as the subject of the novel and wrote metafiction in order to establish their artistic integrity and professional authority Literatures of Memory

Drawing on the rhetorical work of James Phelan Wayne Booth's ethical criticism recent work on William Makepeace Thackeray as well as an understanding of the role of skepticism in eighteenth and nineteenth century English thought

Thackeray's Skeptical The Journal of Narrative Technique,1986 Menippean Satire and the Poetics of Wit Garry Sherbert,1996 Despite the prominence given to it recently by Mikhail Bakhtin and Northrop Frye Menippean satire remains a neglected and misunderstood genre Focusing on the eighteenth century writers John Dunton Thomas D Urfey and Laurence Sterne Menippean Satire and the Poetics of Wit explores the excesses of these eccentric transgressive writers who take their readers to the limits of language As the outlaw of genre Menippean satire exploits the improprieties supplied by a self conscious use of wit the principle of exuberance in eighteenth century poetics In fact the exuberance of wit produces Menippean satire's central paradox that self conscious writers lose their identity in the very pursuit of it By tracing wit's exuberance through its abusive metaphors or catachreses to the abusive ideologies of class and gender this genre study provides a literary tradition for the postmodern deconstructive project including the work of Jacques Derrida Political Fiction and the Historical Imagination Lee Horsley,1990 Sleutelwoorden Willie van Peer,Katinka Dijkstra,1991

John Fowles best known as the author of The French Lieutenant's Woman has also written numerous other works fiction as well as nonfiction. This unique reference book by James R. Aubrey lists all of Fowles's writings for the first time. It also provides a detailed biography, criticism of his work from the perspective of various disciplines, explanatory notes, a census of characters and a comprehensive bibliography. Aubrey begins with a biography of Fowles based on information from his writings, published and personal interviews and correspondence. This section also includes several photographs. The next section discusses Fowles's lesser known nonfiction work by genre: philosophy, autobiography, biography, translations, book reviews, literary and visual art, criticism, history and social commentary. Aubrey then pulls together the fiction of John Fowles in the order it was published. For each novel or short story, Aubrey provides a description of the circumstances and process of composition, summarization, discussion of its public reception and critiques of the film, television or stage adaptations. Critical approaches to Fowles's fiction are covered next: biographical, psychological, post-structuralist, historicist, feminist, reader response and formalist. The notes, census of characters and extensive bibliography complete this reference companion. Aubrey's book will be useful for those studying Fowles and his work and will be an excellent addition to public and academic libraries.

Academy of Management Journal Academy of Management, 1963 Focus on management theory and practice Studies in Latin Literature and Roman History Carl Deroux, 1979 Fictions of Desire Stephen Snyder, 2000-05 Stephen Snyder examines Kafu's fiction in terms of narrative strategy, placing him squarely within some of the most important currents of literary modernism at the nexus of Naturalism and the largely antithetical development of the modernist reflexive novel Bakhtin, Stalin, and Modern Russian Fiction M. Keith Booker, Dubravka Juraga, 1995-02-28 Bakhtin, Stalin and Modern Russian Fiction presents an advanced introduction to the work of the Russian theorist Mikhail Bakhtin, focusing on the concepts of carnival, dialogism and historicism. The discussion of Bakhtin pays particular attention to the impact of his historical context in the Soviet Union and to the importance of his own dialogic mode of discourse. Bakhtin's ideas are then placed in dialogic relation to the works of several important writers of modern Russian fiction, including Vassily Aksyonov, Ilf and Petrov, Mikhail Zoshchenko, Yuz Aleshkovsky, Andrei Bitov and Sasha Sokolov John Fowles Margaret Reynolds, Jonathan Noakes, 2003 The French Lieutenant's Woman, The Magus, A Maggot In Vintage Living Texts, teachers and students will find the essential guide to the works of John Fowles. Vintage Living Texts is unique in that it offers an in-depth interview with John Fowles relating specifically to the texts under discussion.
