

The background of the entire image is a photograph of a dirt path that curves through a wooded area. The trees are mostly without leaves, with their dark, intricate branches reaching across the sky. The ground is covered in dry, brownish leaves and patches of green grass. The lighting is soft, suggesting an overcast day or a shaded forest interior.

A. Allen E. A. Allen, 2010-02-22 A passage from the book In this volume the author has sought to lay before the reader a description of life and times lying beyond the light of history This is indeed an extensive subject and calls for some explanation both as to the general design of the work and what steps have been taken to secure correct information History is a word of varied import In general when we talk about history we mean those accounts of past events times and circumstances of which we have written records Not necessarily meaning alphabetical writing because hieroglyphic records have furnished much true history Hieroglyphic writing which long preceded alphabetical writing is itself a comparatively recent art In no country do we find any records carrying us further back than a few thousand years before the Christian era We have every reason to believe that the historical part of man s life on the globe is but an insignificant part of the whole This historic period is not the same in all countries It varies from a few centuries in our own country to a few

thousands of years in Oriental lands In no country is there a hard and fast line separating the historic period from the prehistoric In the dim perspective of years the light gradually fades away the mist grows thicker and thicker before us and we at last find ourselves face to face with the unknown past

The Prehistoric World; Or, Vanished Races - The Original Classic Edition Emory Adams Allen, 2012-02 In this volume the author has sought to lay before the reader a description of life and times lying beyond the light of history This is indeed an extensive subject and calls for some explanation both as to the general design of the work and what steps have been taken to secure correct information History is a word of varied import In general when we talk about history we mean those accounts of past events times and circumstances of which we have written records Not necessarily meaning alphabetical writing because hieroglyphic records have furnished much true history Hieroglyphic writing which long preceded alphabetical writing is itself a comparatively recent art In no country do we find any records carrying us further back than a few thousand years before the Christian era We have every reason to believe that the historical part of man s life on the globe is but an insignificant part of the whole This historic period is not the same in all countries It varies from a few centuries in our own country to a few thousands of years in Oriental lands In no country is there a hard and fast line separating the historic period from the prehistoric In the dim perspective of years the light gradually fades away the mist grows thicker and thicker before us and we at last find ourselves face to face with the unknown past This extensive period of time is not however utterly lost to us We have simply to gather our information in some other way Enthusiastic explorers digging beneath the ashes of Vesuvius have brought to light the remains of an entombed city Of this city we indeed have historic records but even if all such records had long since disappeared we would gather much information as to the nationality of the inhabitants their customs and manners by a simple inspection of the relics themselves Everywhere over the earth entombed beneath the feet of the living or crumbling on the surface are the few relics of a past far antedating the relics of Pompeii They are the proofs positive that some people inhabited the land in far away times Our object is to gather together the conclusions of the scientific world as to primitive man We wish to see how far back in the geological history of the globe we can find evidence of man s existence and we desire to learn his surroundings and the manner of his life There can be no more important field than for us to thus learn of the past To read the story of primitive man to walk with him the earth in ages long ago with him to wage war on the huge animals of a previous epoch to recede with him before the relentless march of the ice of the Glacial Age to watch his advance in culture to investigate whether there are any races of men now living which are the direct descendants of this primeval man
