Paleolithic cave art was drawn forty thousand to eleven thousand years ago and it was motivated by climate change Kieran D OHara a geologist and professor emeritus at the University of Kentucky explains why we know that to be true in this groundbreaking book His goal isn't to explore the meaning of cave art but to show why it was done While many scholars argue that the art depicted in these caves don't depict the animals of that period OHara argues just the opposite putting forth the controversial theory that the cave paintings accurately reflect the climate and animals that existed alongside the artists For far too long cave art specialists have incorrectly concluded that cave art doesn't match up with the reality of life at the time because they've been comparing archaeological bone remains with cave imagery of a different age Paleolithic people survived through the most severe swings in climate this planet has experienced in the past two million years and it was a major factor in what cave artists depicted Examine the facts and discover a new interpretation with Cave Art and Climate Change Cave Art, Perception and Knowledge M. Rosengren, 2012-10-29 Using the example of prehistoric paintings discovered in the late 19th century in Spain and France Cave Art Perception and Knowledge inquires into epistemic questions related to images depicting and perception that this rich material has given rise to The book traces the outline of the doxa of cave art studies Cave Art Vishakha Chanchani, 2013 Catalog of the artist's visualization inspired by cave painting Cave Art Jean Clottes, 2008-07-16 A comprehensive accessible guide to prehistoric art in Europe and beyond
