Future of Liberation Theology Ivan Petrella, 2006-06-28 There is a notion amongst some academics that Latin American Liberation Theology has had its day a dream killed off by the Nicaraguan and Salvadoran revolutions the 1989 demise of socialism and the end of history claims of the champions of capitalism However in this book Petrella proves this to be an ill conceived notion and shows that this theology can be reinvented to bring its preferential option for the poor into the real world The actualisation of historical projects is possible by adopting the methods developed by the Brazilian champion of critical legal studies Robert Unger Doing so will entail the rejection of these theologians unitary concepts of a despised and rejected capitalism and a canonized and accepted socialism Petrella argues for a reconstruction of these concepts and those of democracy and property too He closely analyses the differences in democracy and capitalism as practised across the USA and Europe in support for the reconstruction of these concepts bringing about far reaching suggestions for the future of liberation theology

Science and Technology in a Developing World T. Shinn, J. Spaapen, V.V. Krishna, 2013-04-17 block possible Soviet expansion by mobilizing European democracies the policy soon extended to some developing countries in Asia and Latin America In response the USSR gradually initiated development programs for newly independent nations in Asia and Africa In this context super power rivalry operated in the South to i expand spheres of influence and control ii guard Southern nations from the influence and incursions launched by the opposed camp iii stimulate indigenous development With few exceptions Southern nations provided little input to the definition and execution of North South dynamics during this period In the case of Africa and to some extent Asia the acquisition of independence was so recent and often sudden that there was little time to reflect on the kind of policies and measures needed to build balanced relations with the former mother country In Latin America the Monroe Doctrine had long insured that the region was a virtual captive of the US Aid for development was contingent on conformity to US political and economic interests The cognitive component of South North dealings strongly reflected the two above mentioned dispositions The relative lack of political experience in the South and the dearth of an organized and sizable intellectual academic community meant that there were few cognitive and human resources for undertaking careful study and analysis of the conditions and needs of development from a Southern perspective influential exceptions existed though such as Raul Prebisch in Latin America or Ghandi in India Participatory Development Ponna Wignaraja,1991 Tackling the problems of Third World development from a different perspective this study offers a new approach in which people at the grass roots level in South Asia become both the subjects and the objects of a participatory process of development designed to improve living conditions Development and Globalization David F. Ruccio,2012-12-06 Since the mid 1980s David F Ruccio has been developing a new framework of Marxian class analysis and applying it to various issues in socialist planning Third World development and capitalist globalization The aim of this collection is to show through a series of concrete examples how Marxian class analysis can be used to challenge existing modes of thought and to produce new insights about the problems of capitalist development and the possibilities of imagining and creating noncapitalist economies The book consists of fifteen essays plus an introductory chapter situating the author's work in a larger intellectual and political context The topics covered range from planning theory to the role of the state in the Nicaraguan Revolution from radical theories of underdevelopment to the Third World debt crisis and from a critical engagement with regulation theory to contemporary discussions of globalization and imperialism Economic Thought Since Keynes Michel Beaud,Gilles Dostaler,2005-09-27 Economic Thought Since Keynes provides a concise overview of changing economic thought in the latter part of the twentieth century Offering a concise biography of 150 influential economists since Keynes it is an invaluable reference tool The Bangladesh Development Studies ,1993 The Postcolonial State and the Development Agenda Samuel Inuwa Zalanga,2000 Development Theory Jan Nederveen Pieterse,2001-03-20 This study is a critical commentary connecting issues of development with the latest thinking in sociology critical theory and social science It addresses questions such as the connections with globalization and culture and modernity International Journal of Development Planning Literature ,1987 The Politics of Economic Development David H.
