Education for the Professions in Times of Change Linda Clarke, 2020-12-02

The eminent Harvard educationalist Howard Garner writes a preface to the Place Model within his Good Project Blog, which provides a preface to this timely book. "Professional" is a slippery term open to willful abuse, misuse and misunderstanding, as evidenced by the ways in which this chameleon term can be used as both a compliment and an insult. In this book, academics from a range of professional fields deconstruct professional and reimagine professionals in an age of rapid change, where professionals are both increasingly in demand and frequently under threat. Several deploy the lens of Clarke's Place Model to examine professions including teaching, midwifery, social work, journalism and optometry. Some papers are empirical and some are based around using the Place Model as a thought experiment. All turn a critical eye on professionals and all find them to be like all humans: neither devils nor divines. Maya Angelou, but at their best, a combination of two indispensable characteristics: trustworthiness and expertise.

Assessing and Correcting Reading and Writing Difficulties Thomas G. Gunning, 2002

This text provides numerous examples and thorough coverage of procedures for assessing and instructing struggling readers of all ages. In keeping with current theory, the text emphasizes prevention and early intervention. It is based on the premise that student performance is variable and that assessment and instruction are planned and modified to meet the varied needs and levels of students. Gunning does not subscribe to a medical model that emphasizes deficiencies but rather focuses on what students can do. This text calls for inclusion, not exclusion, but recognizes that struggling learners need expert, carefully planned assessment and instruction. Assessment coverage includes a grounding in basic concepts of tests and measurement. While formal standardized measures are described, emphasis is placed upon informal but highly regarded techniques such as the informal reading inventory, miscue analysis, running records, observation, think alouds, holistic scoring of writing and portfolio assessment. In addition to chapters devoted specifically to assessment, ways to connect assessment and instruction are mentioned throughout the text. Coverage of instructional techniques is thorough and practical. Nine chapters are devoted to instructional techniques.
