The Fluid Word:

A Mechanical Text-book William John Macquorn Rankine, Edward Fisher Bamber, 1873 The Forgotten Film Adaptations of D.H. Lawrence's Short Stories Jason Mark Ward, 2016-07-11 This book looks beyond fidelity to emphasize how each adaptation of D H Lawrence's short stories functions as a creative response to a text foregrounding the significance of its fluidity transtextuality and genre The adaptations analysed range from the first to the most recent and draw attention to the fluidity of textual sources the significance of generic conventions and space in film the generic potentialities latent within Lawrence's tales and the evolving nature of adaptation By engaging with recent advances in adaptation theory to discuss the evolving critical reception of the author's work and the role of the reader this book provides a fresh forward looking approach to Lawrence studies Reading Notes, 2021-11-01 Reading notes constitute a vast resource for an understanding of literary history and culture They indicate what writers read as well as how they read and what they used in their own work As such they play an important role in both the reception and the production of texts The essays in this volume representing the newest trends in European and international textual scholarship examine literary creation and the relationship between reading and writing To study how readers respond to writing and how reading engenders new writing the contributing scholars no longer take for granted that authors write in splendid isolation but turn to a more broadly sociological investigation of authorship assigning new roles to the writer as reader notetaker annotator book collector and so on Notes and annotations may be fragmentary private undigested and embryonic but as witnesses to the reading process they tell unique stories about writers and readers ranging from great marginalists like Coleridge to women annotators of cookbooks This subject of research is a junction of several fields of research and tries to bridge gaps between separate disciplines with a common ground such as the history of the book the history of reading and the history of writing scholarly editing and textual genetics the analysis commentary and critical interpretation of the way in which works of art come into being bridging the gap between literary and textual criticism The New Text-book of Physics Le Roy Clark Cooley, 1880

A Text-book of practical medicine v. 1 Felix von Niemeyer, 1883 Living Books Janneke Adema, 2021-08-31 Reimagining the scholarly book as living and collaborative not as commodified and essentialized but in all its dynamic materiality In this book Janneke Adema proposes that we reimagine the scholarly book as a living and collaborative project not as linear bound and fixed but as fluid remixed and liquid a space for experimentation She presents a series of cutting edge experiments in arts and humanities book publishing showcasing the radical new forms that book based scholarly work might take in the digital age Adema's proposed alternative futures for the scholarly book go beyond such print based assumptions as fixity stability the single author originality and copyright reaching instead for a dynamic and emergent materiality Adema suggests ways to unbind the book describing experiments in scholarly book publishing with new forms of anonymous collaborative authorship radical open access publishing and processual living and remixed publications among other practices She doesn't cast digital as the solution and print as the problem the problem in scholarly publishing she argues is not print itself but the way print has been commodified and essentialized Adema explores alternative more ethical models of authorship constructs an alternative genealogy of openness and examines opportunities for intervention in current cultures of knowledge production Finally asking why it is that we cut and bind our research together at all she examines two book publishing projects that experiment with remix and reuse and try to rethink and reperform the book apparatus by taking responsibility for the cuts they make
