The City In Conflict:

War and the City Sara Fregonese, 2019-11-14 War and the City examines the geopolitical significance of the Lebanese Civil War through a micro level exploration of how the urban landscape of Beirut was transformed by the conflict. Focusing on the initial phase of the war in 1975 and 1976 the volume also draws significant parallels with more recent occurrences of internecine conflict and with the historical legacies of Lebanon's colonial past. While most scholarship has thus far focused on post war reconstruction of the city the initial process of destruction has been neglected. This volume thus moves away from formal macro level geopolitical analysis to propose instead an exploration of the urban nature of conflict through its spaces infrastructures bodies and materialities. The book utilizes urban viewpoints in order to highlight the nature of sovereignty in Lebanon and how it is inscribed on the urban landscape. War and the City presents a view of geopolitics as not only shaping narratives of international relations but as crucially reshaping the space of cities.

Contemporary Archaeology and the City Laura McAttackney, Krysta Ryzewski, 2017-07-14 Contemporary Archaeology and the City foregrounds the archaeological study of post industrial and other urban transformations through a diverse international collection of case studies. Over the past decade contemporary archaeology has emerged as a dynamic force for dissecting and contextualizing the material complexities of present day societies. Contemporary archaeology challenges conventional anthropological and archaeological conceptions of the past by pushing temporal boundaries closer to if not into the present. The volume is organized around three themes that highlight the multifaceted character of urban transitions in present day cities: creativity, ruination and political action. The case studies offer comparative perspectives on transformative global urban processes in local contexts through research conducted in the struggling post industrial cities of Detroit, Belfast, Indianapolis, Berlin, Liverpool, Belém and post Apartheid Cape Town as well as the thriving urban centres of Melbourne, New York City, London, Chicago and Istanbul. Together the volume contributions demonstrate how the contemporary city is an urban palimpsest comprised by archaeological assemblages of the built environment, the surface and buried sub surface that are traces of the various pasts entangled with one another in the present. This volume aims to position the city as one of the most important and dynamic arenas for archaeological studies of the contemporary by presenting a range of theoretically engaged case studies that highlight some of the major issues that the study of contemporary cities pose for archaeologists.

From Urban National Parks to Natured Cities in the Global South Frédéric Landy, 2018-07-20 This important volume focuses on the sensitive issue of interrelationships between national parks situated near or within urban areas and their urban environment. It engages with both urban and conservation issues and compares four national parks located in four large cities in the global South: Rio de Janeiro, Cape Town, Mumbai and Nairobi. Though primarily undertaken as academic research the project has intensively collaborated with the institutions in charge of these parks. The comparative structure of this volume is also original and unique: each of the chapters incorporates insight from all four sites as far as possible The term naturbanity expresses the necessity for cities endowed with a national park to integrate it into their functioning Conversely such parks must take into account their location in an urban environment both as a source of heavy pressures on nature and as a nexus of incentives to support their conservation The principle of non exclusivity that is neither the city nor the park has a right nor even the possibility to negate the other s presence summarizes the main argument of this book Naturbanity thus blurs the old modern dichotomy of nature culture animals and human beings can often jump the physical and ideological walls separating many parks from the adjacent city The 13 chapters and substantive introduction of this volume discuss various aspects of naturbanity the histories of park creation interaction between people and parks urban governance and parks urban conservation models wildlife management environmental education and so on This is a must read for students and researchers interested in social ecology social geography conservation urban planning and ecological policy

Strategies for Sustainable Cities Eric S. Zeemering,2014-05-09 Baltimore like many other cities around the globe is redesigning local government policy and programs in order to become a more sustainable city Sustainability as a concept guiding public action encourages city officials to integrate policy and programs addressing the economic environmental and social health of the community City governments including Baltimore have adopted plans to integrate this new priority into local policy and program management Reorienting city policy and programs to address an emergent concern like sustainability requires collaboration between city government and various actors and organizations in the community Collaborative Strategies for Sustainable Cities examines how cities define sustainability and form policy implementation networks to integrate sustainability into city programs Using the city of Baltimore to describe and analyze the involvement of the participants in local sustainability efforts in rich detail Eric S Zeemering argues that when we think about the sustainable city the city government is not the best unit of analysis for our investigations or policy planning Instead policy networks within cities carve out slices of a sustainability agenda define sustainability in their own ways and form implementation networks with city government officials neighborhood and community organizations funders and state and federal agencies in order to achieve specific goals When cities begin to integrate sustainability into policies and programs surveying and
