The Collection Boulliau An Inventory:

The Collection Boulliau (BN, FF. 13019-13059) Robert A. Hatch, 1982 The life career of Ismael Boulliau virtually spanned the century of genius An accomplished astronomer mathematician classical scholar Boulliau was an activist in the cause of Scientific Revolution His voluminous correspondence placed him at the heart of one of the largest intelligence networks of the century This work is designed as a guide to a correspondence network that helped to unite the learned world of his time Accordingly this vol includes a short sketch of Boulliau s life career followed by an Inventory Name Index of the 41 vols of the Collection Boulliau BN FF 13019 13059 Consisting of over 22 000 pages of manuscript materials The Collection ranks as one of the largest sources of its kind in the 17th century Archives of the Scientific Revolution Michael Cyril William Hunter, Michael Hunter, 1998 The seventeenth century in Western Europe remains the key time and place for the development of modern science the basic theme of this book is what the nature of seventeenth century archives can tell us about this development through a series of case studies Boyle Galileo Huygens Newton included Manuscript collections created by the individuals and institutions who were responsible for the scientific revolution offer valuable evidence of the intellectual aspirations and working practices of the principal protagonists This volume is the first to explore such archives focusing on the ways in which ideas were formulated stored and disseminated and opening up understanding of the process of intellectual change It analyses the characteristics and history of the archives of such leading intellectuals as Robert Boyle Galileo Galilei G W Leibniz Isaac Newton and William Petty also considered are the new scientific institutions founded at the time the Royal Society and the Acad mie des Sciences In each case significant broader findings emerge concerning the nature and role of such holdings an introductory essay discusses the interpretation and exploitation of archives MICHAEL HUNTER is Professor of History at Birkbeck College University of London Contributors MICHAEL HUNTER MASSIMO BUCCIANINI MARK GREENGRASS ROBERT A HATCH FRANCES HARRIS JOELLA YODER DOMENICO BERTOLONI MELI ROB ILIFFE JAMES G O HARA MORDECHAI FEINGOLD CHRISTIANE DEMEULENAERE DOUYRE DAVID STURDY

Ismaël Boulliau (1605-1694) Astronomer, Savant Robert A. Hatch, 1978 Change and Continuity in Early Modern Cosmology Patrick Bonner, 2011-02-01 Viewed as a flashpoint of the Scientific Revolution early modern astronomy witnessed a virtual explosion of ideas about the nature and structure of the world This study explores these theories in a variety of intellectual settings challenging our view of modern science as a straightforward successor to Aristotelian natural philosophy It shows how astronomers dealt with celestial novelties by deploying old ideas in new ways and identifying more subtle notions of cosmic rationality Beginning with the celestial spheres of Peurbach and ending with the evolutionary implications of the new star Mira Ceti it surveys a pivotal phase in our understanding of the universe as a place of constant change that confirmed deeper patterns of cosmic order and stability A Catalogue of the Manuscripts of Christiaan Huygens including a concordance with his Oeuvres Complètes Joella Yoder, 2013-05-13 A Catalogue of the Manuscripts of Christiaan Huygens inventories all known manuscripts written by Christiaan Huygens as well as all letters to or from him. Because almost all of the manuscripts are housed at the University of Leiden in a collection entitled Codices Hugeniani, the catalogue contains an inventory of that entire collection of family papers including many involving Constantijn Huygens. In addition, because most scholars begin their research by consulting Oeuvres Complètes de Christiaan Huygens, which does not provide enough information to relocate the manuscripts edited therein, this catalogue essentially footnotes every edited piece by listing the source manuscripts page by page for each volume. Thus the researcher should be able to move easily between manuscript and edition.

Oxford's Savilian Professors of Astronomy, 2025-11-25. The Savilian Professorships in Astronomy and Geometry at Oxford University were founded in 1619 by Sir Henry Savile, distinguished scholar and Warden of Merton College. The Astronomy professorship in particular is the earliest University-based chair of astronomy in England, predating the earliest Cambridge equivalent by about sixty years. Written by renowned astronomers and historians of science, this accessible and lavishly illustrated book outlines the first 400 years of Oxford's Savilian Professors of Astronomy. Starting with John Bainbridge, Seth Ward, and Christopher Wren, this volume proceeds via such major figures as David Gregory, James Bradley, and Thomas Hornsby to the 19th and 20th century figures of Stephen Rigaud, Charles Pritchard, and Herbert Hall Turner, concluding with the most recent professor, Steven Balbus, one of the editors of this book. This volume assumes no technical background in astronomy and should therefore appeal to the general reader with an interest in astronomy and related sciences. It should also be of interest to anyone interested in the history of astronomy or in the development of Oxford and its University. To all of these audiences, it offers portraits of astronomers at work and an accessible exposition of astronomy's history in the context of its times.

Encyclopedia of the Scientific Revolution, Wilbur Applebaum, 2003-12-16. With unprecedented current coverage of the profound changes in the nature and practice of science in sixteenth and seventeenth century Europe, this comprehensive reference work addresses the individuals, ideas, and institutions that defined culture in the age when the modern perception of nature of the universe and of our place in it is said to have emerged. Covering the historiography of the period, discussions of the Scientific Revolution's impact on its contemporaneous disciplines, and in-depth analyses of the importance of historical context to major developments in the sciences, The Encyclopedia of the Scientific Revolution is an indispensable resource for students and researchers in the history and philosophy of science.

François Blondel, Anthony Gerbino, 2012-12-06. First director of the Académie royale d'architecture, François Blondel established a lasting model for architectural education that helped transform a still largely medieval profession into the one we recognize today. Most well known for his 1676 urban plan of Paris, Blondel is also celebrated as a mathematician, scientist, and scholar. Few figures are more representative of the close affinity between architecture and the new science of the seventeenth century. The first full-length study in English to appear on this polymath, this book adds to the scholarship on early modern architectural history and particularly on French classicism under Louis XIV.
