The Colombian Connection:

The White Labyrinth Rensselaer W. Lee, 1991-01-01 Powerful forces work against efforts to control the flow of illegal narcotics into the United States from the Third World. The potential for conflict and recrimination is built into the situation. The main consumer countries are poor and predominantly agricultural. Cocaine traffic in the Western Hemisphere is a particularly serious example of how this conflict of interests plays out. Producing countries and consuming countries each blame the other and depending on which side they are on advocate either demand side or supply side solutions controlling the demand of users in the United States for cocaine versus controlling the demand of users in the United States for cocaine versus controlling the supply from South America. U.S. concerns are fairly unambiguous. Cocaine imports have increased five to tenfold since 1977 and abuse of cocaine and its derivative crack has become a serious social problem in the United States. The position of producing countries is also clear cut. Political elites in Third World countries view antidrug crusades with hostility because they impose significant new burdens and create formidable new challenges. The White Labyrinth explains why it is so difficult to take effective action against the cocaine problem. It looks closely at problems faced by producing countries the economic and political pressures that make it so difficult to address the problem from a supply side perspective. It analyzes the devastating pressure tactics of coca lobbies and cocaine trafficking syndicates. It explores the complex relationships between the cocaine industry and leftist revolutionary movements. It examines the negative consequences of actions taken by the United States. The White Labyrinth is an in depth examination of a problem that is of paramount public concern. It will be of interest to all those concerned with the development of effective policies from parents to public officials.

Metaheuristics for Intelligent Electrical Networks Frédéric Héliodore, Amir Nakib, Boussaad Ismail, Salma Ouchraa, Laurent Schmitt, 2017-08-14 Intelligence is defined by the ability to optimize, manage and reconcile the currents of physical, economic and even social flows. The strong constraint of immediacy proves to be an opportunity to imagine, propose and deliver solutions on the common basis of optimization techniques. Metaheuristics for Intelligent Electrical Networks analyzes the use of metaheuristics through independent applications but united by the same methodology.

unmitigated may cause neurological disorders A paper on pharmacological cure specifically for tobacco and alcohol abuse is presented as well as the effects of marijuana on the reproductive system The second part examines drug use among children family relationships and drug abuse in adults engaged in various professions and undertakings The third part exposes how a pro drug media can be instrumental in the proliferation of drug use in society and also how religion may have also propagated drug use In contrast several articles are likewise written that extols the use of media in spreading the detrimental effects of drugs Part 4 discusses the state of drug abuse in different cultures and societies the drug trade and various interventions being implemented by local governments and international organizations to curb the spread of this epidemic Part 5 is devoted to the status of drug abuse in the 80 s efforts made and plans to fight it The text is a must read for physicians pharmacists educators social workers lawyers law enforcers sociologists students and people who want to get rid of this menace to the human race
