Practical Aspects of Declarative Languages Shriram Krishnamurthi, C.R. Ramakrishnan, 2003-06-30 Declarative languages build on sound theoretical bases to provide attractive frameworks for application development These languages have been successfully applied to a wide variety of real world situations including database management active networks software engineering and decision support systems New developments in theory and implementation expose fresh opportunities At the same time the application of declarative languages to novel problems raises numerous interesting research issues These well known questions include scalability language extensions for application deployment and programming environments Thus applications drive the progress in the theory and implementation of declarative systems and in turn benefit from this progress The International Symposium on Practical Applications of Declarative Languages PADL provides a forum for researchers practitioners and implementors of declarative languages to exchange ideas on current and novel applications and on the requirements for effective use of declarative systems The fourth PADL symposium was held in Portland Oregon on January 19 and 20 2002

The SPARC Architecture Manual SPARC International, 1994 SPARC Scalable Processor Architecture is the industry's only openly defined and evolved RISC architecture Version 9 is the new 64 bit incarnation of SPARC the most significant change since SPARC's introduction in 1987 Unlike other RISC Reduced Instruction Set Computer designs SPARC specifies not a hardware implementation chip but an open standard architecture belonging to the community of SPARC vendors and users The SPARC specification is defined by the SPARC Architecture Committee a technical arm of the computer maker consortium SPARC International Version 9 provides 64 bit data and addressing support for fault tolerance fast context switching support for advanced compiler optimizations efficient design for Superscalar processors and a clean structure for modern operating systems The V9 architecture supplements rather than replaces the 32 bit Version 8 architecture The non-privileged features of Version 9 are upward compatible from Version 8 so 32 bit application software can execute natively without modification on Version 9 systems no special compatibility mode is required Publication of the Version 9 architecture marks a three year development effort by SPARC International member companies from a broad cross section of disciplines
