Monographic Series Library of Congress,      Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1977      Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1978      Military Review ,1977      Strategy and Ethnocentrism (Routledge Revivals) Ken Booth, 2014-06-27 Ken Booth's study first published in 1979 investigates the way in which cultural distortions have affected the theory and execution of strategy. Its aim is to illustrate the importance of ethnocentrism in all areas of the subject to follow through its implications and to suggest approaches to the different problems it poses. Insights are offered into the character of a number of important issues in Cold War international politics including the superpower arms race, détente, the Middle Eastern crisis, the Soviet arms build up and the SALT talks. In light of the cost of modern warfare it is all the more important to avoid strategic failures in the future. Strategy and Ethnocentrism aims to alert students of military and strategic studies to some ways of minimising the risks of failure in an age when war is increasingly characterised by racial, cultural and religious conflict.      Canadiana ,1978      Canadian - American Slavic Studies ,1980 A quarterly journal devoted to Russia and East Europe      Index of Conference Proceedings Received British Library. Policy for the Strategic Employment of the Soviet Navy James John Tritten, Rand Corporation, 1984 The first major goal of this research effort is to determine the Soviet Union's declaratory policy for the use of naval forces or other military forces in oceanic theaters in the event of a major including nuclear war. What is sought is not what the experts in the West think but what the Soviets themselves say. Without access to Soviet war plans one must rely on those unclassified statements by the Soviets that are found in their speeches, articles, books, radio and TV addresses etc. Using a methodology termed thematic content analysis, the researcher will attempt to achieve his first major goal: elucidation of the Soviet Union's declaratory policy for the use of naval forces. This study will attempt to ascertain the declaratory policy for the strategic employment of the Soviet Navy in a war in which nuclear weapons are used or use of them is threatened. Primary emphasis will be on those naval missions that the researcher discovers the Soviets associate with nuclear warfare or with success in the attainment of war aims. It was the researcher's plan to identify declaratory employment policy herein from such material and then subsequently to test the workability of the declaratory policy in a larger study using other methodologies: hardware exercise sensitivity and contingency analysis. Content analysis is the best technique available to infer declaratory roles and missions.
