Spaces of the Living and the Dead Catherine E. Karkov,Kelley M. Wickham-Crowley,Bailey K. Young,1999 Initially concerned exclusively with death and burial this volume grew to encompass the role of the living and the towns they inhabit The ten papers take an informal relaxed tone seeking to inspire discussion rather than provide a definitive summary John Bradley's candid and witty Urbanization in Early Medieval Ireland stands out especially He points out that history is not just about the past it is very much about the present Spaces of the Living and the Dead adeptly interweaves both examining historical facts and our modern biases toward them

Northwest Europe in the Early Middle Ages, c.AD 600-1150 Christopher Loveluck,2013-10-24 Christopher Loveluck's study explores the transformation of Northwest Europe primarily Britain France and Belgium from the era of the first post Roman European Union under the Carolingian Frankish kings to the so called feudal age between c AD 600 and 1150 During these centuries radical changes occurred in the organisation of the rural world Towns and complex communities of artisans and merchant traders emerged and networks of contact between northern Europe the Mediterranean and the Middle and Far East were redefined with long lasting consequences into the present day Loveluck provides the most comprehensive comparative analysis of the rural and urban archaeological remains in this area for twenty five years Supported by evidence from architecture relics manuscript illuminations and texts this book explains how the power and intentions of elites were confronted by the aspirations and actions of the diverse rural peasantry artisans and merchants producing both intended and unforeseen social changes

The Archaeology of Shamanism Neil Price,2003-12-16 In this timely collection Neil Price provides a general introduction to the archaeology of shamanism by bringing together recent archaeological thought on the subject Blending theoretical discussion with detailed case studies the issues addressed include shamanic material culture responses to dying and the dead shamanic soundscapes the use of ritual architecture and shamanism in the context of other belief systems such as totemism Following an initial orientation reviewing shamanism as an anthropological construct the volume focuses on the Northern hemisphere with case studies from Greenland to Nepal Siberia to Kazakhstan The papers span a chronological range from Upper Palaeolithic to the present and explore such cross cutting themes as gender and the body identity landscape architecture as well as shamanic interpretations of rock art and shamanism in the heritage and cultural identity of indigenous peoples The volume also addresses the interpretation of shamanic beliefs in terms of cognitive neuroscience and the modern public perception of prehistoric shamanism   Practices for the Living and the Dead Kristina Jonsson,2009   Proceedings of the Harvard Celtic Colloquium, 18/19: 1998 And 1999 Michael Linkletter,Graduate Student in Celtic Studies Diana Luft,Hugh Fogarty,Ian Richmond,Pat Malone,PH D Candidate Department of Celtic Languages and Literatures Laura Radiker,2007-01-31 The Harvard Celtic Colloquium was established in 1980 by two graduate students in the Harvard University Department of Celtic Languages and Literatures as a forum in which graduate students could share their work and gain experience in professional academia Since then it has been organized annually by a team of students in the department grown in size and gained an international reputation which annually draws a diverse mix of scholars from around the world to present papers on all facets of Celtic Studies The Harvard Celtic Colloquium is the only conference in the field of Celtic Studies to be wholly organized and run by graduate students Since its inception established and internationally renowned scholars in Celtic as well as graduate students junior academics and unaffiliated scholars have been drawn to this dynamic setting presenting papers on ancient medieval and modern topics in the many disciplines relating to Celtic Studies including literature linguistics art archeology government economics music and history Papers given at the Colloquium may be submitted for review to the organizers of the conference who become the editors for those papers selected for publication in the Proceedings of the Harvard Celtic Colloquium Only papers presented at the annual conference are considered for publication Harvard University Press is proud to announce that we will distribute the Proceedings of the Harvard Celtic Colloquium Two new issues are available this Fall Volume 18 19 1998 and 1999 and Volume 20 21 2000 and 2001 Back issues are also available   Reports of the Research Committee of the Society of Antiquaries of London ,2005

Wind & Water in the Middle Ages Steven A. Walton,2006   Early Medieval Mortuary Practices Sarah Semple,Howard Williams,2007 Incorporating studies focusing upon Anglo Saxon England as well as research encompassing western Britain Continental Europe and Scandinavia this volume originated as the proceedings of a two day conference held at the University of Exeter in February 2004   Cædmon's Hymn and Material Culture in the World of Bede Allen J. Frantzen,John Hines,2007 The essays in this book use the nine line poem known as C dmon s Hymn as a lens on the world of Bede s Ecclesiastical History A cowherd who is given a divine gift C dmon retells the great narratives of Christian history in the traditional form of Anglo Saxon verse An immense amount has been written about this episode much of it concentrating on the hymn s significance in the history of English literature Relatively little attention however has been paid to what the story of C dmon and his hymn might tell us about the material as well as the textual culture of Bede s world The essays in this collection seek to connect C dmon s Hymn to Bede s material world in various ways Each chapter begins with the hymn and moves from the text to the worlds of scientific thought settlements and social hierarchy monastic reform and ordinary things

The connections explored here are a sampling of the material concerns C dmon s Hymn raises      Archaeological Review from Cambridge ,2000      New Medieval Literatures ,1997      SOMA 2012: Near eastern identities. The Luristan-Hamrin cultural sphere (4th-3rd millennium BC). Pottery identity as intra-societies interactions Luca Bombardieri,Anacleto D'Agostino,Guido Guarducci,Valentina Orsi,Stefano Valentini (Archaeologist),2013      Cultures in Contact Dawn M. Hadley,J. D. Richards,2000 This volume examines the Scandinavian impact on England in the ninth and tenth centuries with particular reference to Scandinavian settlement and the diverse ways in which the Scandinavians and the native populations responded to each other Many previous studies have described the settlement as involving a rapid assimilation of the settlers with native society and culture and a swift process of integration This volume challenges that view and shows that the processes of assimilation integration and accommodation were gradual and complex displaying important regional variations Where did the Scandinavians come from What type of society did they eventually settle into What were the implications of the drawing of different cultures in contact and how is this portrayed in the surviving material An important aim of this volume is to open up new interdisciplinary dialogue in Viking Studies and it analyses documentary archaeological artefactual and linguistic evidence The volume also seeks to develop more theoretically sophisticated accounts of Scandinavian settlement and brings the study of this subject up to date in terms of developments in other branches of history archaeology and linguistics Recent discussion in other fields concerning for example material culture and language have shown that they did not simply reflect changes in society but were also active constituent elements in creating and re creating social and cultural identities The volume focuses on the creation of local and regional identities and affinities and moves on from the traditional depiction of the issues in terms of a simple dichotomy of Scandinavian and English It takes a more rigorously contextual approach than has hitherto been the case in the study of Scandinavian settlement and seeks to throw new light on the consequences of cultures in contact      Rulers, Warriors, Traders, Clerics Anne Haour,2007-12-27 What do we learn if we look in parallel at the past of two distinct parts of the world A novel and stimulating approach this volume compares the central Sahel of West Africa to Northern Europe to develop our understanding of what life was like for our medieval predecessors      Feeding Community John Angus Soderberg,2003      Early Deira Helen Geake,Jonathan Kenny,2000 This text is based on a meeting of the University of York Archaeological Society in 1995      Sutton Hoo M. O. H. Carver,2005 This book brings the excavations at the fabulous site of Sutton Hoo right up to date documenting the discoveries made since 1983 It also takes a fresh look at what was known prior to this and includes discussions by contributing experts
