Spaces Of Their Own Womens Public Sphere In Transnational China:

Spaces of Their Own Mayfair Mei-hui Yang, 1999 How are the public and political lives of Chinese women constrained by states and economies And how have pockets of women s consciousness come to be produced in and disseminated from this traditionally masculine milieu The essays in this volume examine the possibilities for a public sphere for Chinese women one that would both emerge from concrete historical situations and local contexts and cut across the political boundaries separating the Mainland Taiwan Hong Kong and the West The challenges of this project are taken up in essays on the legacy of state feminism on the Mainland as contrasted with a grassroots women s movement challenging the state in Taiwan on the role of the capitalist consumer economy in the emerging lesbian movement in Taiwan and on the increased trafficking of women as brides prostitutes and mistresses between the Mainland and wealthy male patrons in Taiwan and Hong Kong The writers examples of masculine domination in the media include the reformulation of Chinese women in Fifth Generation films for a transnational Western male film audience and the portrayal of Mainland women in Taiwanese and Hong Kong media The contributors also consider male nationalism as it is revealed through both international sports coverage on television and in a Chinese television drama Other works examine a women s museum a telephone hotline in Beijing the films of Hong Kong filmmaker Ann Hui the transnational contacts of a Taiwanese feminist organization the diaspora of Mainland women writers and the differences between Chinese and Western feminist themes

Women Filmmakers and the Visual Politics of Transnational China in the #MeToo Era Gina Marchetti, 2025-10-01 Manoeuvring around mainland China s censors and pushing back against threats of lawsuits online harassment and physical violence MeToo activists shed a particularly harsh light on the treatment of women in the cinema and entertainment industries Focusing on films from the People s Republic of China Hong Kong Taiwan and the Chinese diaspora this book considers how female directors shape Chinese visual politics through the depiction of the look the stare the leer the glare the glimpse the glance the queer and the oppositional gaze in fiction and documentary filmmaking In the years leading up to and following in the wake of MeToo these cosmopolitan women filmmakers offer innovative angles on body image reproduction romance family relations gender identity generational differences female sexuality sexual violence sex work labor migration career options minority experiences media access feminist activism and political rights within the rapidly changing Chinese cultural orbit

Imagining Sisterhood in Modern Chinese Texts, 1890-1937 Yun Zhu, 2017-03-16 This book investigates sisterhood as a converging thread that wove female subjectivities and intersubjectivities into a larger narrative of Chinese modernity embedded in a newly conceived global context It focuses on the period between the late Qing reform era around the turn of the twentieth century and the outbreak of the Second Sino Japanese War in 1937 which saw the emergence of new ways of depicting Chinese womanhood in various kinds of media In a critical hermeneutic approach Zhu combines an examination of an outside perspective how narratives and images about sisterhood were mobilized to shape new identities and imaginations with that of an inside perspective how subjects saw themselves as embedded in or affected by the discourse and how they negotiated such experiences within texts or through writing With its working definition of sisterhood covering biological as well as all kinds of symbolic and metaphysical connotations this book exams the literary and cultural representations of this elastic notion with attention to on the one hand a supposedly collective identity shared by all modern Chinese female subjects and on the other hand the contesting modes of womanhood that were introduced through the juxtaposition of divergent sisters Through an interdisciplinary approach that brings together historical materials literary and cultural analysis and theoretical questions Zhu conducts a careful examination of how new identities subjectivities and sentiments were negotiated and mediated through the hermeneutic circuits around sisterhood

Women's Performative Writing and Identity Construction in the Japanese Empire Satoko Kakihara, 2022-11-28 In Women's Performative Writing and Identity Construction in the Japanese Empire the author examines how writers captured various experiences of living under imperialism in their fiction and nonfiction works Through an examination of texts by writers producing in different parts of the empire including the Japanese metropole and the colonies and territories of Taiwan Korea and Manchukuo the book explores how women negotiated the social and personal changes brought about by modernization of the social institutions of education marriage family and labor Looking at works by writers including young students in Manchukuo Japanese writer Hani Motoko Korean writer Chang Tok cho and Taiwanese writer Yang Ch ien Ho the book sheds light upon how the act and product of writing became a site for women to articulate their hopes and desires while also processing sociopolitical expectations The author argues that women used their practice of writing to construct their sense of self The book ultimately shows us how the words we write make us who we are

Mapping Meanings Michael Lackner, Natascha

Vittinghoff, 2004-06-01 Mapping Meanings is essentially a broad ranged introduction to China's intellectual entry into the family of nations Written by a fine selection of experts it guides the reader into the terrain of China's late Qing encounter with Western knowledge and modern sciences and at the same time connects convincingly to the broader question of the mobility of knowledge The late Qing literati's pursuit of New Learning was a transnational practice inseparable from the local context Mapping Meanings therefore attempts to highlight what the encountered global knowledge could have meant to
