The Iceman Cometh:

The Iceman Cometh Eugene O'Neill, 2022-11-22 Eugene O'Neill's The Iceman Cometh is a poignant exploration of disillusionment and the human condition set in a dilapidated bar in New York City during the early 20th century. This profound drama employs a naturalistic style rich in dialogue and symbolism to delve into the lives of its colorful yet tragic characters. Through their preferences for pipe dreams over harsh realities, O'Neill critiques the American Dream and the delusions that sustain individuals in their struggles for meaning, culminating in a compelling, often bleak atmosphere that invites introspection. Eugene O'Neill (1888-1953) an influential figure in American theater and a Nobel laureate, crafted this masterpiece after a tumultuous personal life marked by addiction and familial strife. His semi-autobiographical experiences and deep understanding of human psychology profoundly shaped his writing. O'Neill's evocative works are characterized by their candid exploration of despair, and The Iceman Cometh epitomizes this introspection as the characters grapple with their shattered hopes and existential dilemmas. For readers seeking a powerful literary experience that challenges conventional notions of success and hope, The Iceman Cometh is essential. Through its richly drawn characters and thought-provoking themes, O'Neill's play remains a timeless reflection on the fragility of dreams and the inevitability of truth.

Both belong to his late plays and apart from that bear a lot of similarities. The focus of this paper will be to analyze The Iceman Cometh and Long Day's Journey into Night with special regard to the importance of illusion and reality for both the characters and the progress of the play. Furthermore a comparison will be made between Hickey in The Iceman Cometh and Mary Cavan Tyrone in Long Day's Journey into Night in order to show that they have similar functions in their respective plays.
