The Indiscreet Toys Denis Diderot,2017-06-19 The Indiscreet Jewels or The Indiscreet Toys or The Talking Jewels French Les bijoux indiscrets is the first novel by Denis Diderot published anonymously in 1748 It is an allegory that portrays Louis XV as the sultan Mangogul of the Congo who owns a magic ring that makes women s genitals jewels talk

The Indiscreet Jewels Denis Diderot,2025-10-22T16:06:31Z Mangogul Sultan of the Congo and an allegory for Louis XV finds himself increasingly bored with court life and his favorite consort Mirzoza has run short of gallant narratives of court and city life to amuse him Her advice that he apply to the genie Cucufa for a way to hear new stories results in his possession of a magical ring that not only grants its wearer invisibility but also compels any woman s vagina to disclose its amorous history regardless of the woman s wishes Over the course of thirty trials Mangogul succeeds for a time in amusing himself while also creating havoc at court His continued use of the ring reveals his courtiers scandalous and fascinating sexual exploits and subjects them to a satirical scrutiny of their foibles and desires Interleaved with the scandal these disclosures also prompt philosophical discussions and speculation about humanity and religion as well as theatrical and literary criticism The Indiscreet Jewels is written in the style of Cr billon fils Le Sopha its sympathetic treatment of Mirzoza was intended to engage the support of Madame de Pompadour at that time Louis XV s favorite consort for Diderot s Encyclop die project This book is part of the Standard Ebooks project which produces free public domain ebooks philosophique Les bijoux indiscrets Denis Diderot,1996 The Libertine Reader Michel Feher,1997 Irresistibly charming or shamelessly deceitful remarkably persuasive or uselessly verbose everything one loves to hate or hates to love about French lovers and their self styled reputation can be traced to eighteenth century libertine novels Obsessed with strategies of seduction endlessly speculating about the motives and goals of lovers the idle aristocrats who populate these novels are exclusively preoccupied with their erotic lives Deprived of other battlefields in which to fulfill their thirst for glory

libertine noblemen seek to conquer the women of their class without falling into the trap of love while their female prey attempt to enjoy the pleasures of love without sacrificing their honor Yet in spite of the licentious mores of the declining Old Regime men and women are still expected to pay lip service to an austere code of morals Asked to constantly denounce their own practices they find that their erotic war games are thus governed by a double constraint whatever they feel or intend the heroes of libertine literature can neither say what they mean nor mean what they say The Libertine Reader includes all the varieties of libertine strategies from the successful cunning of Mme de T in Denon's No Tomorrow to the ill fated genius of Mme Merteuil in Laclos's Dangerous Liaisons from the laborious sentimental education of Meilcour in Cr billon fils s Wayward Head and Heart to the hazardous master plan of the French ambassador in Pr vost's The Story of a Modern Greek Woman The discrepancies between the characters words and their true intentions the libertine double entendre are exposed through the speaking vaginas in Diderot's Indiscreet Jewels and the wandering soul of Amanzei in Cr billon fils s Sofa while the contrasts between natural and civilized or degenerate erotics are the subjects of both Diderot's Supplement to Bougainville's Voyage and Laclos's On the Education of Women Finally Sade's Florville and Courval shows that destiny itself is on the side of libertinism

Dumas,1897 The Erotic Margin Irvin Cemil Schick,1999 Gender and sexuality have long held an important place in western attitudes towards the people and regions of the world from the titillating accounts of harem life in the Middle East to the terrifying captivity narratives of North America The Erotic Margin is a first attempt to pull together this large disparate and often contradictory literature and view it as a corpus Schick argues that such images served to construct spatial difference and thereby helped Europe represent its own place in the world during an age of rapid geographical expansion Informed by the recent literature on human geography as well as feminist and postcolonial theory The Erotic Margin turns to sexual anthropology as well as travel literature in which from the eighteenth century on both traveler and destination were portrayed in unmistakably gendered and sexualized terms Reviewing examples ranging from the New World to India the Near East to black Africa and the South Sea islands to the Barbary Coast the book reflects on why foreign women were variously portrayed as alluring or threatening foreign men as effeminate weaklings or dangerous rapists and foreign lands as sexual idylls or hearts of darkness

Invention of Science historian David Wootton reveals why the Scientific Revolution was truly the greatest event in our history. Spanning continents and centuries Wootton chronicles the factors that led to this crucial transformation and the fascinating people who made it happen. Wootton argues that the Scientific Revolution was actually five separate yet concurrent events that merged to create a new worldview. Here are the brilliant iconoclasts Galileo, Copernicus, Brahe, Newton and many more curious minds from across Europe whose studies of the natural world challenged centuries of religious orthodoxy and ingrained superstition. From gunpowder technology to the discovery of the new world, movable type printing, perspective painting and the telescope to the practice of conducting experiments, the laws of nature and the concept of the fact, Wootton shows how these discoveries codified into a social construct and a system of knowledge. Ultimately he makes clear the link between scientific discovery and the rise of industrialization and the birth of the modern world we know. Selected Writings Denis Diderot, 1966. Twenty six selections covering the whole range of human concern from metaphysics to sex.
