Resisting Dialogue Juan Meneses, 2019-12-24 A bold new critique of dialogue as a method of eliminating dissent Is dialogue always the productive political and communicative tool it is widely conceived to be Resisting Dialogue reassesses our assumptions about dialogue and in so doing about what a politically healthy society should look like Juan Meneses argues that far from an unalloyed good dialogue often serves as a subtle tool of domination perpetuating the underlying inequalities it is intended to address Meneses investigates how illusory dialogue a particular dialogic encounter designed to secure consensus is employed as an instrument that forestalls instead of fostering articulations of dissent that lead to political change He does so through close readings of novels from the English speaking world written in the past hundred years from E M Forster's A Passage to India and Jeanette Winterson's The Passion to Indra Sinha's Animal's People and more Resisting Dialogue demonstrates how these novels are rhetorical exercises with real political clout capable of restoring the radical potential of dialogue in today's globalized world Expanding the boundaries of postpolitical theory Meneses reveals how these works offer ways to practice disagreement against this regulatory use of dialogue and expose the pitfalls of certain other dialogic interventions in relation to some of the most prominent questions of modern history cosmopolitanism at the end of empire the dangers of rewriting the historical record the affective dimension of neoliberalism the racial and nationalist underpinnings of the war on terror and the visibility of environmental violence in the Anthropocene Ultimately Resisting Dialogue is a complex provocative critique that melding political and literary theory reveals how fiction can help confront the deployment of dialogue to preempt the emergence of dissent and thus revitalize the practice of emancipatory politics

Postpolitics and the Aesthetic Imagination Juan Meneses, 2025-06-24 Igniting political power through the lens of art and the imagination Postpolitics and the Aesthetic Imagination investigates the erosion of meaningful political action in today's world Gathering writings from an array of scholars editor Juan Meneses asks can an aesthetic theory of postpolitics help us understand and counteract the most insidious processes of depoliticization The contributors to this volume explore how the aesthetic imagination can play a crucial role in reenvisioning key political elements including governance agency rights and responsibility With a survey of various artistic mediums film dance music literature and digital media the essays illustrate how the aesthetic can reveal ways to breathe new life into the work of emancipatory politics Reclaiming the arts and humanities as vital to political life the contributors revisit but also move beyond the social sciences central focus on neoliberalism and public administration to address other topics such as tech capitalism race environmental violence and patriarchy Postpolitics and the Aesthetic Imagination argues for a conscious deployment of aesthetics to resist political anesthesia and promote a more just society underscoring the role of the imagination in political engagement and change Contributors Jacquelyn Arcy U of Wisconsin Parkside Christopher Breu Illinois State U Stephen Charbonneau Florida Atlantic U Eric Lemmon Webster U Robert P Marzec Purdue U Allison Page Rutgers U Camden Matthew Scully U of Lausanne Erik

Decolonial Feminism in Abya Yala Yuderkys Espinosa-Miñoso, María Lugones,, Nelson Maldonado-Torres,2022-08-01 This is a collection of eleven chapters and an introduction that develop key arguments in decolonial feminism particularly the coloniality of gender the critique of white and Eurocentric feminisms the imbrication between gender race and colonialism feminicides and the coloniality of democracy and public institutions The introduction addresses the path of decolonial feminism from a new approach to understanding the relationship between gender as a category race and colonialism that combined U S Third World feminism and scholarship on coloniality and decoloniality to its exponential growth in the hands of activists and engaged scholars from Latin America and the Caribbean Today much of the literature on decolonial feminism in Latin America and the Caribbean remains unknown in the U S This anthology seeks to start remedying this problem with seven translations of work originally written in Spanish and three essays originally written in English that address the fundamental concepts of decolonial feminism as well as its contributions to important contemporary political and intellectual debates

Early English Text Society ,1885 Constructing Vernacular Culture in the Trans-Caribbean Holger Henke,Karl-Heinz Magister,2008 Constructing Vernacular Culture in the Trans Caribbean traces the contradictory cultural trajectories constructed and reproduced in the fluid diasporic spaces we call the Trans Caribbean Particular emphasis is placed on such cultural expressions that reflect or derive from the cultural vernacular and popular culture as it exists in these spaces Its multidisciplinary approach and focus on different language areas in the Trans Caribbean are of particular interest to scholars in cultural studies migration literary theory and cultural criticism

Late Imperial Culture Roman De La Campa,E. Ann Kaplan,Michael Sprinker,1995-05-17 A diverse range of theoretically sophisticated and historically informed contributors take as given two fundamental facts about the culture of imperialism firstly that it has a long and complex history which in the present epoch merits its being designated late and secondly that its impact on the contemporary world is far from exhausted Together they highlight the contradictions in the serried cultural practices of imperialism in its different historical periods Publisher description

Storfjell,2001 This dissertation is a colonial discourse analysis of the construction of S pmi S miland as colonized territory and the S mi as colonized subjects and an exploration of some oppositional responses to that construction Beginning with classical representations of the wilderness beyond the civilized space of the polis and subsequently of the empire and of the inhabitants with which the ancient Greek Roman and Hebrew imaginations populated this space the analysis goes on to trace the incorporation of the S mi into world views that constructed the uncivilized as mirrors to reflect the image of the civilized gazing subject back to himself From Tacitus Germania and later Roman and post Roman Mediterranean texts through the medieval and early modern periods the examination follows the pre colonial textual production of tropes of wildness magic and remoteness that form the basis of colonial discursive treatment of the S mi Colonial discourse emerges with the beginning of colonial expropriation of S pmi and the S mi in the sixteenth century This dissertation follows the development of that discourse and examines its transformations as it legitimizes and accommodates colonization into the twentieth century Successively informed by and incorporated within various metropolitan European discourses including those of the Enlightenment the Noble Savage and Social Darwinism colonial discourse marginalizes and objectifies the S mi while it inscribes them and their territory within the modern states of Norway Sweden Finland and Russia The examination of colonial discourse culminates with the extreme marginalization of the S mi in Knut Hamsun s novel Markens gr de In its final section this dissertation examines the challenges facing oppositional texts situated as they are within the traditions of colonial discourse s systems of representational containment and appropriation One of the primary difficulties faced by both S mi and non S mi authors in their counter hegemonic endeavors is avoiding the essentialisms and binary oppositions posited by colonial discourse This dissertation examines several different approaches to liberatory writing on the Sami ending with Aagot Vinterbo Hohr s Palimpsest and Laila Stien s Vekselsang two novels that undermine the essentialist constructions of colonial discourse and open a discursive space for multiple and diverse articulations of S mi resistance and identity Leaves ix
