A Changing United Nations W. Knight,2000-10-19 The United Nations is at a critical juncture It is faced with two distinct choices to remain a decision frozen in time or to develop a long term adaptation agenda and strategy that would allow it to be a relevant institution of global governance for the twenty first century Reform and reflexive institutional adjustments have failed to address underlying problems facing this organization After fifty five years of existence it is still considered an inefficient and ineffective world body Worse yet its relevance is being questioned This study offers a critique of existing UN change processes and then shifts focus to considerations of institutional learning strategies that would allow the UN to maintain relevance amidst the evolution of global governance arrangements

Beyond Gunboat Diplomacy James O. Tubbs,1997 Military intervention short of full scale war is not a new phenomenon as a means of pursuing national interests However with the end of the cold war military intervention has taken a new twist in the form of peace operations The U S Air Force in particular is being used as a tool of national policy in peace enforcement operations with increasing regularity Currently the USAF is involved in the conflict in the former Yugoslavia and maintains an air presence in both Turkey and Saudi Arabia to control the Iraqi repression of its civilian population This raises a fundamental question about when and how airpower should be used as an effective coercive force in peace enforcement operations Peace enforcement is a military intervention in an on going conflict which uses military force to coerce one or more belligerents to comply with mandated restrictions The purpose of this intervention is to create the proper security conditions such that other peace efforts such as humanitarian relief and diplomatic peacemaking can help the belligerents resolve the conflict without the use of force This thesis uses PROVIDE COMFORT in northern Iraq and UNITAF UNISOM II in Somalia as case studies to examine how airpower influences peace enforcement operations Abstract
