- 1. Introduction to the Course This module introduces the course and its objectives. It covers the following topics:
- Course Objectives: Understand the basic principles of computer science, develop problem-solving skills, and gain experience with programming.
  - Course Structure: The course is divided into four main sections: Fundamentals, Algorithms, Data Structures, and Advanced Topics.
  - Assessment: Your progress will be evaluated through quizzes, assignments, and a final exam.
- 2. Fundamentals of Computer Science This module covers the basic concepts of computer science, including:
- Computer Architecture: Understanding the components of a computer system, such as the CPU, memory, and I/O devices.
  - Operating Systems: Learning about the role of the operating system in managing hardware resources and providing a platform for application software.
  - Networking: Exploring the basics of network communication, including protocols and data transmission.
- 3. Algorithms and Data Structures This module focuses on the design and analysis of algorithms and the use of data structures to solve problems efficiently. Topics include:
- Algorithms: Studying various algorithmic techniques, such as sorting, searching, and graph algorithms.
  - Data Structures: Exploring different ways to organize and store data, including arrays, linked lists, trees, and graphs.
  - Complexity Analysis: Understanding how to measure the efficiency of an algorithm in terms of time and space complexity.
- 4. Advanced Topics This module covers more advanced concepts in computer science, including:
- Artificial Intelligence: Introduction to the field of AI, covering topics like search algorithms, machine learning, and expert systems.
  - Database Systems: Learning about the design and implementation of database systems, including relational databases and NoSQL databases.
  - Security: Exploring the fundamentals of computer security, including cryptography, authentication, and network security.
