Subject Catalog, 1979 Library of Congress,1979 Soldiering for Glory Frank Schaller,2007 This work presents an ambitious German commander s views of military life and courtship in the Confederacy Confederate colonel Frank Schaller lived a life of grand ambition driven to attain rank fortune a good marriage and some measure of redemption in the eyes of his German family His correspondence from the 1860s follows his battlefield experiences his machinations for advancement and his courtship of Sophie Sosnowski of Columbia South Carolina Schaller emigrated from Germany to the U S in 1855 and began the career as a military science instructor that would lead him to North Carolina and the Hillsborough Military

Academy in 1861 His training in Germany and his combat experience with the French army in the Crimean War made him a candidate for quick advancement once the Civil War began From the time of North Carolina's secession in 1861 until his being wounded at Shiloh in April 1862 Schaller advanced rapidly from lieutenant to colonel But after Shiloh his consistent and somewhat conspicuous medical complaints kept him from combat while he worked to maintain his rank as regimental commander of the Twenty second Mississippi Infantry and pursue a marriage into a prominent family Schaller reveals much in his correspondence about military actions and the inner workings of the Confederate officer corps The critical views of this disciplined European military commander on the quality and training of his American volunteer soldiers is particularly telling He recounts his firsthand perspectives on the Battle of Shiloh the retreat from Nashville the Battle of Fredericksburg and the defeat at Gettysburg His letters to Sophie Sosnowski also detail the nature of courtship practices in the war torn South

North Carolina County Fact Book Beverly Tetterton,1999 Hillsborough Chris Holaday,2002 The picturesque town of Hillsborough once a treasured secret has recently been rediscovered for its beauty locale and historical ties Various buildings that date back to the late 1700s are still located in Hillsborough's downtown area which itself is a designated National Historic District Having maintained the community's rich heritage residents reap the benefits of small town life in the vicinity of a booming metropolis English colonists founded Hillsborough in 1754 where the Great Indian Trading Path crossed the Eno River By the late 1760s the town was at the center of the Regulator Movement which challenged the local Colonial government When the colonies decided to break from England a town resident named William Hooper signed the Declaration of Independence During the war that ensued the British army briefly occupied the town and fought skirmishes in the surrounding area After the war prominent citizens gathered in Hillsborough for the Constitutional Convention of 1788 to determine the course of the new nation Less than a century later another armed conflict involved Hillsborough leaders of the last great Confederate army camped in the town and discussed surrender in 1865 Their decision to lay down arms essentially ended the most tragic chapter in American history
