The Origin and Growth of the English Constitution Hannis Taylor, 1898 An Ecological Theory of Democracy William Collins, 2012-12-06 There are a number of people I wish to acknowledge for helping me write this book First the idea of politics as a nonequilibrium process owes its origins largely to a series of ongoing conversations I have had with Father Richard Telnack o c s o Our discussions of Augustine's city of God and Hegel's Phenomenology in the hours before the night office led me to think about the world more as an ongoing flux than as a static rational order The use of structurally unstable dynamical systems to model democratic politics was greatly enhanced by my interactions with Professor Alex Kleiner department of mathematics Drake University Professor Manfred Holler of the University of Aarhus provided a detailed critique of an earlier version His insights and remarks were invaluable in improving the work's content and structure I also wish to thank Dr Werner A Muller director of Physica Verlag for his confidence in my work and his efforts on my behalf Miss Jane Blevins was a patient and thorough typist I thank her for her attention to the production of the manuscript Finally writing a book is in one way a moral act It requires committment to pursue a line of thought to its conclusion when the final results are not clear without the encouragement and support of my wife over a long period of time I would have certainly faltered Whatever good emerges from the work is due largely to her example and patient endurance The ^ASouthern Key Michael Goldfield,2020-01-23 The Southern Key explains the reasons for the failure of the US South to unionize especially during the 1930s and 1940s and why this is the crucial to understanding the evolution of American politics since that era It is argued primarily that the failure of the labor movement to fully confront white supremacy led to its ultimate failure in the South and that this regional failure has led to the nationwide decline in labor unionism growing inequality and the perpetuation of white supremacy Home Culture Thomas Hunter,1884 The Nation ,1872 The Chautauquan Theodore L.
