Generation and Interpretation of Morphogen Gradients James Briscoe, Peter Anthony Lawrence, Jean-Paul Vincent, 2010 Signalling by morphogens such as the Hedgehog family, Notch, Wingless, Wnt and various growth factors is essential during embryogenesis. The establishment of concentration gradients of these morphogens plays a key role during developmental patterning in all multicellular organisms, assuring that distinct cell, tissue, types and organs appear at the right place in the right time during embryogenesis. Regulation of morphogen synthesis, trafficking and diffusion are all known to play a part in setting up these gradients and a complex web of signaling mechanisms ensures that specific responses occur at the correct threshold concentration in the recipient cells whose fate depends on these morphogens.
