Philippine Law on Torts and Damages J. Cezar S. Sangco, 1993      Human Resource Management In Agriculture K Sivaramakrishna, 1994 Agricultural sector plays a dominant role in the country's economy The workers employed in agriculture form the pivot and it is realised that they constitute human resource It is for the first time that the concept of human resource is applied in agriculture sector Though scholars have highlighted different aspects of agricultural labour studies treating them as human resource are practically non-existent In this regard the present work represents a pioneer attempt and a comprehensive account highlighting diverse aspects of human resource management practices in this all important area Contents Introduction The Present Study Socio Economic Profile Procurement and Utilization Employee Compensation and Inducements Agrarian Relations Evaluation and Suggestions      The Belt and Road Initiative Julien Chaisse, Jędrzej Górski, 2018-09-24 This 28 chapter volume brings together academics and practitioners to provide a comprehensive legal economic and political analysis of the Belt and Road BRI initiative that has emerged since 2013 as a key feature of China's international economic policy It offers a fundamentally novel approach towards international trade investment and global governance in an unsettled time of shifting geopolitics when many institutions developed in the West are being called into question The book covers a broad range of BRI related international economic law and policy issues including trade facilitation and connectivity economics and geopolitics of new trade routes foreign direct investment law bilateral investment treaties free trade agreements financing of infrastructure development aid international dispute resolution and regional economic integration      Suicide And Attempted Suicide Dr. C.G. Deshpande, 2020-12-23 Suicide is a topic that invariably shocks and saddens any heart We the Behavioural Scientists often are so helpless and cannot prevent all suicides As in the developed countries the rate of suicide has gone up along with socioeconomical development and urbanisation in this country The status race D Morris leaves many of us frustrated and subsequently aggressive west If this drive cannot be externalized it is internalised causing suicidal behaviour Dr C G Deshpande's monograph on suicides has come at the right time to awaken social scientists to this rude challenge posed by the spectre of suicidal death He has painstakingly conducted a controlled and statistically validated study of the Epidemiology Aetiopathology Classification management and prevention of suicidal behaviour His elaborate overview of the previous studies by researchers and experts like Durkheim W Breed Gibbs and Martin Pretzel West J Jacobs and Fendell as well as learned observations by authorities like Freud Jung Adler K Horney and Sullivan is very informative Dr Deshpande has further detailed the various aspects of suicidal phenomena its history the cross cultural aspects and types of suicide and its classification by Karl Menninger Klopfer and Schneidman The various methods of study such as psychodiagnostic testing analysis of suicide notes and relationship with the different factors that influence suicidal behaviour viz Age sex differences culture home environment neurochemicals etc are described along with his studied comments In chapter 3 4 and 5 he has explained the methodology and findings of his research study along with elaborate explanations and analysis of findings especially dynamics of suicidal behaviour His motivational and emotional analysis of suicide along with case studies are very lucid and enlightening Next he has elaborated the social and sexual adjustment in suicides from his sample of respondents The illustrative case studies incorporate revealing statements by the respondents regarding their motivation and its causes Case discussion at the end is quite convincing The adjustment Inventory prepared by Dr Deshpande is original and very useful in determining the personality characteristics of the suicide attempters as compared with normal people His observation on each of these characteristics and the final conclusion based on the results are impartial factual and reliable He has given the historical aspects of the attitudes of authorities and government from ancient Indian setting to modern Indian conditions He has made exhaustive comments on the laws in British India and in Republic of India after giving details of the trial cases He has further written on the history of thoughts on euthanasia and their modification in modern times His final and sincere request for legislation on euthanasia and assisted suicide in exceptional cases is quite appealing and deserves government's prompt consideration The prevention aspects of suicidal potential along with detailed description of various scales inventories and questionnaires to measure and assess suicidal intent follows next The utility of these psychometric methods to identify and assess suicidal potential as well as to take preventive measures is well established Crisis intervention through emergency telephone contacts by suicide planners has been advocated Finally he has outlined the management of suicide attempts through various modes of psychotherapy Postvention is congenitally justified to protect the close relatives of suicide victims from the aftermath as well as to prevent such attempts by others who may take the suicidal act as a model This monograph is not only very enlightening but also thought provoking I have personally been bemused and saddened by suicides by my patients which were very often unexpected Such experiences by most of the clinical psychiatrists and psychiatric social workers as well as practising psychologists warrant a specific and special study of the factors that influence a patient's decision to commit suicide West's theory of frustration aggression model to explain murder cum suicide was amply proved and illustrated by the following tragic end of a doctor couple and their sons A busy family physician had to shift his lucrative practice from a smaller city to pune where better educational facilities were available His elder son was not doing well in a medical college in Bombay for which he had taken my advice and his regular treatment was considered necessary He later showed positive signs and symptoms of schizophrenic disorder Treatment over a period of 2 years did not help He kept avoiding classes and failing This caused Depressive Reactions in his mother who could not adjust to the change of place and practice and anxiety regarding her son Her second son also showed negative symptoms of schizophrenia and poor response to treatment His father who was already struggling in his practice and worried all the time about the mental health of his three dependents became dejected and angry He became desperate when he found no way out this predicament and made an elaborate murder cum suicide pact with his wife who could not resist him He gave intravenous anaesthesia to both of his sons under the garb of treatment and killed them He confirmed their death by thrusting very long screwdriver into their abdomens and hanged himself along with his wife In another shocking case a young widow was severely depressed for over one year after the accidental death of her husband She took no treatment and eventually influenced the thinking of her parents and younger unmarried sister in a Folie a quatre Madmen should by four situation They all jumped in a deep well after tying their legs along with the infant son in the middle of a dark night Her father who was a retired professor active in social service had agreed for this suicide pact along with murder of his grandson His actions shocked the community who had not even suspected such mindless suicidal behaviour from an otherwise very sober and responsible person Such horrifying incidents undermine the confidence of Behaviour Scientists who are committed to prevent suicides Two more illustrative case reports glaringly exposes a helplessness to prevent certain type of suicides A medical student a case of Refractory Endogenous Depression had made genuine suicidal attempts inspite of intensive treatment He finally succeeded in a suicidal act which he committed abroad where his pilot father had killed himself in a deliberate air crash His act was probably his model A medical post graduate student had not recovered from deep depression in spite of proper antidepressant treatment including Electric shock Treatment As advised his father was watching him all the time but in a moment of lapse the doctor slopped and ran to the Railway station His father ran after him to see his son s head severed from his trunk by arriving train In a recent magazine report a Pranam sect leader influenced his small group of followers to seek Mukti or Moksha by jumping in a steep waterfall near panna in Central India This death would give them direct entry into heaven Six including four from a family died but two others survived because they did not jump out of great fear Some of the inferences one may draw from these case reports are 1 Death is seen as a final extinction or liberation of the soul 2 A gateway to eternal bliss and peace or as a deliverance from life s suffering 3 Retribution for sins often imagined made in life Some of the participants of suicide pacts are convinced about the emptiness and meaninglessness of life In other cases some see death as a triumph over their frailty or suffering Some believe death will lead them to their beloved who have departed earlier as in the case of a medical student whose father had died in an air crash The other explanation was identification with his suicidal father Why do these unfortunate victims become so desparate as to make a suicide cum murder pact snuffing out the life of very young dependents Do the social prejudices and attitudes which frown on such persons for their suicidal attempts contribute to their Death wish Joad s caustic reference to the social attitudes is justifiable as they are still prevalent viz those who succeed in their suicidal acts are lunatic and those who fail are criminals Till recent past the lawmakers had primitive laws for suicidal attempts ignoring their suffering and scoffing as the justifiable reasons for the suicidal attempts As a matter of fact suicidal attempts are cries for help made by suffering persons even though these may be only attention seeking and do not have a suicidal intent If only others in the family as well as neighbours or colleagues were attentive and sympathetic and offered some help or guidance many a suicide could be prevented While differentiating a suicidal attempt from intended suicidal act one must not be carried away by any dictum Sometimes a suicidal attempt may lead to unintended death accidentally So also a truly intended suicidal act may fail One of patients was saved after taking 200 phenobarbime 60 mg tablets which is 4 times a fatal dose She was taken to the hospital promptly by her alert relatives so also the alert and zealous team of doctors fought for her life and saved her in spite of coma which had ensued In such cases one has to be very careful as the act very often is repeated with fatal result Suicidal attempts and gestures are considered to lack any risk to life and hence at times neglected But the indifference by close relations may deject them and drive them to perform a successful suicidal act So all such persons with suicidal behaviour deserve our attention sympathy and expert help Viz psychiatric or psychosocial sympathetic attitude must be the base for any preventive effort to reduce suicide rate Official Gazette Philippines,1993 Cobbett's Parliamentary Debates ,1885 Our Country in War, and Relations with All Nations Murat Halstead,1898 Hansard's Parliamentary Debates Great Britain.
