Peranakan Heritage, 1988 Reconstructing Identities Jürgen Rudolph, 1998 The aim of this text is to provide a social history of the Babas in Singapore It describes and analyzes social political and cultural aspects of their identities by taking into account the conceptual history of Baba designations from 1819 1994 It argues that defining the Babas is misleading it is more meaningful to adopt a socio historical approach that differentiates spatiotemporally distinct Baba identities Such an approach is usually avoided not only in research on the Babas but in many other sociological anthropological or historical studies It concludes that there is no such thing as a Baba identity it has always been in flux and needs to be reconstructed taking seriously the conceptual history The two crucial turning points in the history of the Babas namely the Japanese occupation 1942 1945 and self rule 1959 led to public emphasis on their culture Prior emphasis on their former status as a political and economic elite have been hitherto neglected Taking into account all aspects legal political economic cultural linguistic religious of Baba identities leads us to a fascinating trajectory of a potential group

Phoenix Rising Hwei-Fe'n Cheah, 2010 Using Nyonya beadwork as both a lens and an object of study Hwei Fe n Cheah explores historical social and cultural transformations in the Peranakan Chinese community Phoenix Rising provides social scientists with tangible tools for examining concepts of modernity and tradition For gender theorists Phoenix Rising exemplifies the way time was used for beadwork and embroidery thus crafting notions of Nyonya culture and identity The reader is simultaneously taken on two journeys the one pictorial the other analytic to learn about the changing ways in which meaning intersects with items of material culture historically and currently The combination is a visually and intellectually exciting example of multi disciplinary research that is also aesthetically stunning Barbara Leigh Adjunct Professor University of Technology Sydney
