When it comes to climate change the greatest difficulty we face is that we do not know the likely degree of change or its cost which means that environmental policy decisions have to be made under uncertainty This book offers an accessible philosophical treatment of the broad range of ethical and policy challenges posed by climate change uncertainty Drawing on both the philosophy of science and ethics Martin Bunzl shows how tackling climate change revolves around weighing up our interests now against those of future generations which requires that we examine our assumptions about the value of present costs versus future benefits In an engaging conversational style Bunzl looks at questions such as our responsibility towards non human life the interests of the developing and developed worlds and how the circumstances of poverty shape the perception of risk ultimate developing and defending a view of humanity and its place in the world that makes sense of our duty to Nature without treating it as a rights bearer This book will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental studies philosophy politics and sociology as well as policy makers Annual Report of the American Historical Association

Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1960 Agricultural History, 1960 A Mine to Make a Mine Joseph E. King, 1977 Entranced by visions of instant wealth the fabled prospector and his trusty burro combed the hills of the Rocky Mountain West for that one huge deposit of pay ore Close behind the prospector and drawn by the same vision came the speculator Capital a scarce though essential commodity on the frontier was supplied by the speculators and made possible the development of a hardrock mining industry that helped shape the early history of the region Between the Civil War and the turn of the century the gold and silver mines of Colorado were a gaudy unsavory but important element in the American financial scene and in the economic history of the West Joseph E King drawing upon contemporary sources provides the first comprehensive and scholarly examination of eastern investors in Colorado and challenges the popular notion that eastern investors did little more than exploit the mines of Colorado Not surprisingly the prospector and the lusty boom towns he visited have often captivated the imagination of historians at the expense of the later stages in the development of a mineral industry Professor King stresses the contributions of promoters businessmen and mining engineers in the development of the Wild West Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress,1955 A cumulative list of works represented by Library of Congress printed cards The Cumulative Book Index ,1960 AB Bookman's Weekly ,1999 Harold F.
